Vol. LXXIV. DECEMBER 17, 1904. No. 1918.

THE stock market is justifying the apprehensions of those who have regarded the speculative situation with distrust. It behaves as if the end of one period of speculation had arrived, and that a beginning had been made to another period. The bull movement culminated a couple of weeks ago; and since that time it has been twice proved that the attempt to force prices up any higher can only result in disaster. The market did not completely crumble away, because there were strong interests behind it, and because general conditions were good. But it became uncertain and fretful and finally dull. It is just the sort of market, of which the public is afraid. Professionals can swim in such treacherous waters, but the outsider does not like these violent fluctuations. If the bull market came to an end because the public refused to buy stocks at the prices they had reached, it is manifest that the public are still less likely to come to the assistance of the speculators, now that a season of uncertainty has begun. It looks consequently as if Wall street was in for an intermediate period, during which prices are likely to sag, and which will prepare the way for a further advance or a further decline—according to the business outlook some months from now.

THE comparative moderation in the speculative buying of vacant lots, which began to show itself a week ago, has been continued during the week just closed. The total number of transactions is about the same as the week before, and shows a diminution of a third from the high-water mark. This decrease is a matter of congratulation rather than regret, particularly in view of the fact that it is accompanied by a livelier interest than ever in improved real estate in Manhattan. During the past week three important purchases have been made of old buildings, in locations on the margin of the skyscraper district; and every one of these will mean improvements in the coming spring. Indeed, indications are multiplying that unless the labor situation interferes, the year 1905 will witness a large amount of the best kind of building-construction, that is, which is undertaken by business men for the purpose of accommodating an increased or an altered business. The Altman store is the most prominent illustration of these, and will necessitate the erection of several new buildings besides that of Mr. Altman himself. Indeed property in and near 5th ave. has suddenly become more active than it has been throughout the entire fall, and the demand is so much larger than the supply that prices are again increasing. A novelty of the week is the filing of plans for a new apartment hotel in the Long Acre Square district. For eighteen months the building of apartment hotels in that part of the city has been dead and the projection of a new and large one suggests that perhaps 1905 will also witness a revival of the apartment hotel business.

THE Record and Guide wishes to call particular attention to the enormous increase in the volume of the real estate papers which are being recorded in the county registry offices of New York and Queens. The number of these papers has strained the machinery of every company or individual who is obliged to take account of them in the ordinary course of business. The Register's office itself is able to record them only owing to a special transfer of funds. The title companies have the utmost difficulty in properly handling the number of papers offered and the Record and Guide finds itself under the necessity of doubling the sizes of the issues which it ordinarily publishes at this season of the year. A few figures derived from our weekly tables will indicate the volume of the legal matter now being recorded. In the November of 1904, for instance, some 2261 conveyances of Manhattan and Bronx property were recorded, against 1344 for the corresponding period in 1903, and 1221 for the corresponding period in 1902. Thus in the course of two years the conveyances have increased by 80 per cent., and the mortgages have increased in a still larger proportion. Again the figures for the two weeks covering the last of November and the first of December show still larger increases. In this period in 1904 there have been 809 transfers of Manhattan property recorded, 517 of Bronx property and 1126 of Brooklyn property. The total for New York county was 1326. In 1903 during the same period there were recorded 583 Manhattan, 207 Bronx and 950 Brooklyn transfers, the total for New York county being 790. In 1902 for the same period the Manhattan total was 500, the Bronx total 188 and the Brooklyn total 805. In 1901 the Manhattan total was 432, the Bronx total 170, and the Brooklyn total 655. Thus in four years the total for the three boroughs has increased from 1087 to 2452 papers, an enlargement of about 140 per cent., while in two years the increase was from 1493 to 2452. It is obvious that such increases as these puts an entirely different complexion upon the problem of dealing with such legal records. Methods and appropriations which sufficed in 1902 can no longer be used to-day; and it behooves the county officials to take care that they are not caught out during the coming spring. The movement looking towards the development of the outlying districts has only just begun; and it will carry with it an amount of legal records during the busy season of the real estate year which will make even the foregoing figures look small.

THE contract, which the Board of Rapid Transit Commissioners proposes to make with the New York & New Jersey Tunnel Company, offers an excellent solution of a complicated and difficult problem. The perpetual grant of the cross-town line gives the trolley company a permanent foothold in New York, whereby it can exchange traffic with all the longitudinal tunnels which may hereafter be constructed. On the other hand its temporary occupation of Sixth ave., from 9th to 33d sts., will also enable it to collect and distribute the many thousand passengers who wish to shop in New York or go to the theatres. It will be a great advantage to these passengers not to be obliged to transfer, because the necessity of transferring costs on the average several minutes of time and some little inconvenience. Moreover, instead of building the tunnel forty feet below the surface, it will be situated as near the surface as is consistent with the construction of necessary cross-town lines at 23d st., but the city retains the right to purchase the Subway whenever such purchase becomes desirable in the interest of the municipal transit system. This arrangement takes account of every future contingency, while also giving an excellent immediate connection with the trolley tunnel; and it will mean that the many thousand thrifty residents of New Jersey will be able to use the New York shops and places of amusement much more than they do at present. The proposed connection will not be as convenient as it might be for the people who wish to go to and from their places of business, but the trolley tunnel terminating at Church and Cortlandt sts. will supply this demand. In view of these plans of the trolley company it seems absolutely necessary for the Lackawanna and the Erie Companies to build into Manhattan. Without an electric service terminating at some central point on this side of the river, they will in the long run lose a considerable portion of their suburban traffic.

THE efforts which the police are making, under the superintendance of Commissioner McAdoo to regulate the vehicular traffic at important points of avenue intersection—such as Madison and Greeley Squares—are being attended with a considerable degree of success; but so far as 5th ave. is concerned the Commissioner is right in asserting that the only way to relieve the congestion of carriage traffic is to take some of the superfluous space from the sidewalks and throw it into the carriage way. It is extraordinary that the storekeepers on 23d st. and on 5th ave. do not insist that the stoop- permits for these thoroughfares should be revoked. The congestion of carriage traffic on the avenue in winter is not only dangerous and inconvenient, but it is a very bad thing for local business. That business depends largely upon the ability of well-to-do people to reach the 5th ave. shops conveniently in cabs and carriages, and just in so far as the avenue is too crowded to contain the traffic of this kind which naturally seeks it, just in so far are its business opportunities diminished. The removal of the stoops would occasion some expense to the few property owners below 46th st., who still use their houses as residences; but the proportion of these people are growing smaller every year, and it is to the interest of every one else who uses the avenue that the existing congestion be relieved. But if the storekeepers will not move in the matter the Borough officials should do so. The stoop-permits are an inheritance from the time when 5th ave. was a street of residences. They are an impediment to the growth of the avenue, and a serious inconvenience to thousands of people. It is time that some action be taken.

The New Fifth Avenue.

THE explicit public announcement that Benjamin Altman is to build a dry goods store on Fifth ave. between 34th and 35th sts. is the most important piece of news respecting real estate on Fifth ave. since Tiffany & Co. declared its intention of moving. The fact that Mr. Altman proposed to take this step has indeed been an open secret for some years; but there was always the chance that he might not secure as much property as he needed, and that his purpose would have to be abandoned. The fact that Mr. Altman has at last proclaimed his intention of building next spring shows that his plan is now irrevocable, and that its effects upon the values of Fifth ave. property may be accepted as reasonably certain.

These effects, both direct and indirect, will be very considerable. The new Altman building will, in the first place, compel a number of important firms, now occupying premises on the property, to find other habitations, and this in itself will provoke a considerable demand for space on and near Fifth ave. It is probable that, wherever possible, these business firms will find their new location just off the avenue instead of on it, because the present prices of 5th Ave. real estate give store-keepers a strong inducement to obtain something of the benefit of a 5th ave. location without incurring the whole expense. One of the displaced firms has already arranged for a building on 44th st. just east of the avenue; and this example will be followed by others. The avenue itself will gradually be monopolized by the more opulent firms, which wish particularly to make a display as well as to have a "swell" location, while the side streets between 23d and 42d sts., Madison ave., Broadway and Sixth ave. will accommodate shops which wish to be fashionable, but are under no necessity to be particularly conspicuous. We imagine for instance, that the men's tailors will gradually be forced off the avenue, in spite of the fact that they have so long occupied a prominent position upon it. But, however that may be, the important point is that the new Altman building will give an immediate impulse to the purchase and the renting of Fifth ave. property, which will continue throughout the current real estate year.

The indirect effects will, however, be still more considerable. The peculiar importance of the Altman project consists in the fact that it is the first big store of a general character which has moved into middle 5th ave. The avenue as a business thoroughfare was occupied first by tailors, milliners, picture dealers, decorators and the like, whose customers consisted of a comparatively few wealthy people, and who required a comparatively small amount of space. This was succeeded by a period in which, while most of the newcomers were of the old class, a number of stores were established by firms, such as the Aeolian Company and Tiffany, who appealed to a larger popular following and demanded a proportionately larger space. With the Altman purchase a third period has begun. A store such as this finds its customers among the whole mass of well-to-do people. The range and the number of its frequenters is smaller, of course, than that of a department store; but they include almost everybody with whom cheap prices are not the first desideratum. It is a popular store, and demands not merely two or three lots, but an area of as much as 40,000 square feet. This kind of a store introduces a new element into the group of conditions, which makes for high values on 5th ave. It means bigger buildings, covering more space, bigger crowds on the streets and greater concentration of all kinds. Hitherto 5th ave. has been crowded only with carriages; but with such stores as Altman's on the avenue, its sidewalks will become overflowing with foot-passengers as well as with footmen.

We are assuming, of course, that other large stores will follow the example of Altman's. So far there is only one other block front on the avenue, which is owned by the large storekeeper; and there is as yet no evidence that he proposes to build. But as time goes on it is inevitable that the dry goods stores, which compete with Altman's will obtain a location in or near upper 5th ave. No store which depends to a considerable extent upon people who use carriages can afford to remain below 23d st. It may be ten years still before some of them move and when they move prices on 5th ave. may have become so high that they will not be able to afford a block front on the avenue. But they will certainly be obliged to move in the end; and the sooner they accept this necessity the better it will be for them. It is the business men who appreciated this situation years ago, who are well off at the present time.

The business part of 5th ave. is assuredly destined to become the most typical thoroughfare of New York, and one of the handsomest streets architecturally speaking in the country. It will be typical because it will be gay and crowded and yet at the same time distinguished. Broadway was and is crowded; but it was always too miscellaneous to be distinguished. Fifth ave. is consistent and it is fashionable. It will contain nothing but hotels and shops—the most expensive in the city; and it will constitute the centre of the distinctively metropolitan life of the metropolis—the life which is different from that which is to be found in any foreign capital or any other American city. As to its architecture that is only beginning to show what it is likely to become. For a long time Fifth ave. was lined with nothing but reconstructed residences. This reconstruction was sometimes very excellently done. Indeed, a new type of store front has been worked out—one with a comparatively solid stone base, and with the openings above grouped in the centre of the facade and framed with stone piers and a cornice. But we imagine that the day for reconstructed house-fronts on 5th ave. has gone by. Land has become so expensive that taller buildings are now becoming the rule—buildings like these about to be occupied by the Tiffany & Gorham companies. These buildings are designed by the best architects in the city, and will, when they become sufficiently numerous, give the avenue a very different atmosphere. Its architecture will be showy and so far unbusinesslike; but it will be adapted to fashionable stores, patronized by wealthy clients. It will be "smart" and "swell," and will constitute an appropriate scenery for the panorama of the 5th ave. crowd.

Evils with the Speculation in the Bronx.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Few of those who have been rushing to the Bronx to buy real estate and gather in the unearned increment have stopped to consider the cause of the "boom" and the effect it will have on the future of the Bronx. Their concern is simply to make money while the "boom" lasts, and when it is over they will go elsewhere. For this they cannot be blamed, as it is only human nature to acquire as much as possible for the proverbial "rainy day."

The cause of the boom is the cheapness of land in the Bronx as compared with Manhattan, and the expectation that a great number of people will want to use the land. Rapid transit being a fact, the expectation is that thousands of people will come up here to live and do business. The shrewd speculator, foreseeing these conditions, simply forestalls the newcomer and makes him pay an increased price for the land when he wants to use it for legitimate purposes.

This increased price of land is capitalized rent; that is, the realizing in advance, by the speculator, of the expectation of the increased rent which naturaly follows the inflated price of land. What will be the effect of all this on the future growth of the Bronx? The result cannot be other than injurious. The price of land will continue to increase by reason of competition for it until it reaches a point where it will be unprofitable to buy. Then land speculation as it is now will practically cease in this section. Then those who bought last, at top notch prices, will be obliged to keep their holdings.

This land, being abnormally high in price, will be left actually out of use. Builders who seek vacant land for improvement will find the price prohibitive, and rather than buy land at too high a price will prefer idleness rather than building without a profit. The few who will have the hardihood to build will be obliged to charge such high rents by reason of the high price of land (and material), that their apartments will remain idle, and many tenants who would prefer to live in the Bronx, will be kept away.

The growth of the Bronx will be retarded, for when building ceases all other industries are depressed. Manufacturers who would come to the Bronx and attract multitudes of employees, will be kept away, because, forsooth, factory sites are so expensive that they cannot afford to build. Rather than pay a dog-in-the-manger price for the land they prefer to remain where they are and pay rent, or go elsewhere, where factory sites are cheaper.

In pointing out these evils of land speculation, I have endeavored to show that, instead of a blessing, the boom will prove a curse to the Bronx; that instead of increasing business in every direction it will act as a blight; that instead of increasing population it will retard development. Nor is there any real or lasting benefit to anyone by this land speculation, except to the land speculator who produces nothing, adds not a cent's worth of wealth to the community, but on the contrary, retards its growth by absorbing for his own use the increasing rents of property for business and dwelling purposes, which he takes in advance from the community in the shape of the unearned increment. A MESSAGE TO WORKINGMEN

Which It Is Hoped Everybody Will Hear

By THEODORE STARRETT

Believing that the trade unions of New York City are rapidly moving toward a condition which will result in the biggest strike the city has ever seen in the building business, and with the hope to avert that strike by calling public attention to what are believed to be the causes of the trouble as well as the remedies for it, this article and the three preceding it have been written.

The writer prepared a letter of warning, and sent it to the Chairman of the Building Trades Employers' Association of New York City on January 4, 1904, while there was yet time to avoid a course of action whose inevitable result would be to re-establish under cover of arbitration agreements certain practices which cannot stand the light of day. No attention was paid to that letter, hence the appeal to the public.

The prevention of the practices to which I refer by an enlightened public sentiment will take away all incentive on the part of certain bosses to fly the flag of arbitration over a piratical enterprise.

FOUR years ago at a meeting of the Arbitration Board of Employers and Mechanics of one of the large trades of this city, a demand of the mechanics for a 10 per cent. increase of wages for the ensuing year was under consideration. The employers naturally objected. They always do, except when they have some axe to grind. One of the members of the board from the workmen's side made a speech in advocacy of the proposed raise, and after remarking that the prosperity of the country was supposed to be greater than had ever been known before, said that as far as his trade was concerned they had not been able to get any part of it, that porterhouse steaks were just as far away as they were when the men were getting —— per hour, mentioning a rate just 25 per cent. lower than the rate demanded. The employers strung the employees on this occasion for almost a year, but finally the raise was granted. When it did come it did not cure the evil, and now, that two more raises of equal amounts have been granted, porterhouse steaks are still in the dim distant future;—no nearer, the mechanics think, but I think further away than ever.

Something is wrong, but the question is, what? The mechanic can only think of one remedy for the trouble, and that is to get higher and higher wages, but he fears in his heart that that is not the remedy, and he becomes more and more embittered as he finds on struggling to each higher level that it is only a mirage that has led him on and that he is still in the barren desert. And anyone who would tell him that he is traveling in the wrong direction is in great danger of making a martyr of himself, for the bitter disappointment that rankles in the mechanic's heart engenders a vapor that rises to his brain and befogs it, so that he loses his senses and he is in a condition to tear limb from limb anyone who dares to tell him the truth. To suggest that anything is wrong and to point to the real cause brings up the image of the scab, a fitting name for one who would add to the workman's discomfiture.

When President Eliot, of Harvard University, a profound student of human nature and certainly a man who has no thought of anything but the general good, including that of the mechanics themselves, spoke of unionism's evils, the other day at Cooper Union, he was at once assailed with a question about the scab from some one in his audience. The agitated mind of his hearer, who was undoubtedly a union man, had conjured up that word of scorn, and I doubt if he or any other unionist present was able to see the meaning of any of the remarks made by President Eliot during the rest of the evening.

Why is it that that nightmare of the unionist rushes to his brain the minute this subject is broached? Must the scab be indeed the only remedy? Cannot the trade unionist comprehend that there is some way of curing his distemper beside bringing in a wage-cutter?

I am bold enough to tell the trade unionists that there is a cure for their trouble that will add to their happiness and not to their discontent. But the question is, can I only make them believe me?

There is one thing for them all to remember, and that is that they have been a long time on the wrong track, and it may take them as long to get back as it has taken them to stray away from it.

The high waged mechanic has a secret sorrow of his own that he has not explained, or at least no one has explained to the general public for him, and that is the PRECARIOUS JOB.

The mechanic works by the hour, and the higher his wages the more of a luxury his services become, and when his employer has to pay for these services the employer gets along with just as little of them as he can. The employer bunches the mechanics' work and fixes it so that he can get rid of him as quickly as possible. The mechanic retaliates by nursing the job all he can. That is what President Eliot calls restriction of output.

The precarious job is the cause of all efforts of unions, not only to restrict individual output, but to keep out new members (President Eliot would call it competition). The boss may be willing, in order to gain his ends, to agree to a high wage, but that is as far as he will go. He does not guarantee employment; if he were willing to do so the time has now passed when he could afford it.

THERE IS A CURE.

But, to all trade unionists I say there is a cure for your troubles that does not involve a decrease of your wages. It will come by making the building business like other businesses, just as Mr. Judge and Mr. Featherstone said at the close of their letter printed in the Record and Guide on December 3d. To the employer (for I hope the employers are reading this, too) I would say that I appreciate how absurd on the face of it is the proposition to eliminate the strike clause, but I maintain, nevertheless, that at the bottom of Messrs. Featherstone and Judge's statement is a great truth, and in it will be found the cure of the troubles in the building business.

It will be necessary to indulge in what may be called a few platitudes to prove this.

All civilization is a product of the temperate zone, and has grown out of the fact that a certain class of mankind has been born in a changeable climate. At first this class did not know enough to go down to the tropics where they did not have to work; afterwards a lot of them didn't want to. Being thrown in an environment where they have to hustle for a living, they have worked through the old series of economic conditions of supplying themselves first with necessities and then with luxuries. In this environment every man has had to accumulate something for a rainy day. This principle is just as true to-day as it was at the day of creation. The socialist can never undo it.

All industrial development has been accomplished under leadership just as all wars have been fought under leadership. The leaders have been the ones to get the most glory and the most money, but their lieutenants got a lot of the money, too. The rank and file in all successful wars got their share of the loot. All organization has depended on profit. The initiative was taken by the leaders who studies the situation first and saw the opportunities—they are the men who take the most chances. In the building business, just like others, if there is to be advancement there has to be a leader who guarantees his followers against loss and himself takes the residue. That is what makes rich men.

THE RICH ARE NEEDED.

Rich men have money to spend, and they buy the luxuries which are produced by men earning high wages, so I say to the high-waged mechanics of New York, do not allow yourselves to be played for a sucker by the sophistical socialist, and beware how you try to tear down the rich. Think of your own bread and butter. Remember that you are supplying luxuries; that you are luxuries yourselves. A socialist in a trade that gets $5.00 for eight hours' work is a mental freak, and is as much out of his element as a duck out of water. After spending his youth in a foreign country, where the condition of a working man is worse than that of a stray dog in a back alley, and a man has to work hard to support himself on less than would feed a cat in the United States, he comes to this country and brings his discontent with him. If every socialist had $20.00 a day income (to hoard, it is whispered of some socialists) he would still be discontented.

The city is the center of wealth. It is where the money that is accumulated for the rainy day is hoarded and spent, and is the scene of the highest development of the art of luxurious living.

One of the great troubles of the building business in all our great cities is that it has been changing. The development and perfection of steel-skeleton construction has made some radical innovations. Time was when the carpenters did all the building. When we got to building the large cities the business had so rearranged itself that the masons did the walls and the carpenters did the floors and the roof. Then came fireproof construction, and the masons did the walls, floors and roof and the carpenters had nothing but the trimming to do. (I wonder why the carpenter did not get up a jurisdiction fight then and claim the right to lay bricks in fireproof floors?)

Then the civil engineers commenced to refine the skeleton, and now they are talking of buildings made of concrete, which will rob the bricklayers who once robbed the carpenters. Who can stop this if the public wants it?

And while these changes are going on, how can we wonder that the bosses as well as their men are in a state of agitation? Builders have flattered themselves that their business is different from others, and so have stooped to practices that in other businesses would not suggest themselves to honest employers and would not have been practiced here had it not been for the irresponsibility of the employer, protected as he is by secret trade regulations and the strike and lockout clauses which the public have been made to believe are so necessary, but which really are fake remedies for ills of the builders' own causing. It is this secrecy with which the building business has been surrounded that has made it so hard to correct certain evils that have grown out of the efforts of employers to stem the tide of improvement.

Yet, looking at it from a sane point of view, how futile is any combination to resist the march of civilization!

The building business is no different from any other business, and the obstacles to progress raised by the people in it, have always been swept aside at last. The out-of-town millwork question, for instance, is something that the bosses once advocated, but it could not last. As well for the State of Minnesota, for instance, to pass a law forbidding the citizens to use cotton except it be grown in the State. How the hot-house industry would boom if they did!

One thing that has contributed to the confusion in New York is that here are a lot of very rich institutions and very rich individuals who have been in the habit of having their building work done under conditions where no leadership is required—I mean no industrial leadership where responsibility is assumed and risks are taken that are required in all other industrial achievements and without which there is no progress. In the more prominent work in New York City the construction has been done under such conditions that it has been a case of the more the merrier, and the infatuated boss and his infatuated men being under no restraint have rushed along blindly to greater and greater heights of extravagance, to find themselves at last on the edge of a yawning precipice from which they are like to be dashed by the change that is now taking place.

The extravagant boss who has been throwing away the owners' money and the high-priced mechanic have gone too far. Under the go-as-you-please plan buildings cost so much that the rich owners won't have them. The rich estates are getting more and more into the hands of careful managers, and the waste is rapidly being stopped, for they are fast finding out not only the actual loss but the baneful influence their easy-going methods have had.

I mean by this that the demoralizing condition where the owner pays the freight is now passing away, and the employer will have to pay the freight. He is now beginning to pay the freight as a matter of fact, and he cannot raise the wind to supply his old cronies whose wages he has humped up in the insane belief that he can make somebody else pay it. When the employer in the building business has to pay for his mistakes, he will reap the penalty of recklessness on the one hand, or the reward of his enterprise on the other, just as has been the case in all other industries.

The combination in New York of very rich and careless owners in juxtaposition with the changing conditions of the building business has made New York unique. No other city is so bad off, and the evils of it are beginning to be apparent even to the layman. Once a seeming fair shrub covered with beautiful blossoms, now the roses have fallen and the thorns are all uncovered.

A POOL OF STAGNATION.

Owing to the mystery that has surrounded the building business, due to the effort to keep the outside world from finding out what was really going on, the building business is now, though a small industry comparatively, a very pool of stagnation. The microbes are flourishing and they naturally do not want to be driven out. Happy it is for this country that it is a pool and not an ocean as it is in England. For if it were an ocean we would be oppressed with difficulties that it would take half a century to cure.

The Socialist who has foisted himself on an American trade union will not hear this. I am not addressing the malcontents who have taken advantage of the general confusion to attempt to inculcate insidious principles which cannot bear exposure to the bright sunlight and the free air that we Americans live in. Sad indeed would be the thought that the gospel of discontent and sloth and no-ambition can flourish here.

Let the patriotic and ambitious Americans in the building world hear the truth and they will settle matters the right way.

And let not the union get all the credit for good wages in this country. Legitimate unionism is simply a protective and benevolent institution, a restraint on the would-be wage-reducer, and it has had its principal work to do in the older civilizations. In the United States outside of the area of the original thirteen colonies the union has been a tardy arrival. In every boom town that was established west of the Allegheny Mountains, in every gold camp west of the Rockies, the mechanics who worked at the building business always earned large wages. They had to be given big wages in order to make them stay home and build the houses for the rest of the people who were making money in other industries.

In spite of the trade unions, wages have come down instead of going up in some of the great centers of industrial activity. In 1892 and 1893, in Chicago, plasterers got 75 cents an hour, and at that did only as much work per day as they chose. It was the law of supply and demand that enabled them to do this and not the walking delegates. Carpenters had a minimum rate of 55 cents an hour and on a rush job they got anything they pleased. In 1889, in Chicago, on the first building I ever built, the best bricklayers got 75 cents an hour. No walking delegates helped them. They were the skilful men, and the law of supply and demand made it possible for them to get those wages.

So it is well to clear the way for the advancement of the building business to its proper place among the other industries of this great and glorious nation. For when its forces are righted and some captains of industry get hold of it, they will clean out all deceivers and false phophets.

Under real leadership—responsible leadership—natural conditions will begin to replace the artificial ones which have made the job of the high-waged mechanic so precarious, and things will straightway begin to right themselves for him; NOR NEED HE FEAR REDUCTION IN WAGES AS LONG AS HE IS INDUSTRIOUS. Let him remember that the successful leader in the building business NEVER TRIES TO CUT WAGES; the small boss may do it, but the big ones never have and probably never will.

Fear not, ye philosophers, the bugaboo of restricted output.

Fear not too greatly, ye working men, the bugbear of competition. Let us all work to remove the obstructions and then see if things will not run more smoothly. No mechanic lives in the United States who will not work industriously for a good boss because a good boss will not allow him to remain in his employ if he is a loafer, just as on the other hand he will not ask him to "break his back" or "break his heart" or "wear himself out in half a life time," as the New York "Journal" would have him believe.

Every trade union abuse that is allowed to continue has had at the bottom of it a consenting employers' organization, whether it be the mason builders in New York to-day conspiring against the National Fireproofing Company or the Enterprise Association of Steam Fitters conspiring to keep McQueed out of their union. If once the consenting employer is removed there will result a condition where the enterprising and hopeful spirit of the free American will assert itself and any man, walking delegate or employer, who attempts anything that is in defiance of the workman's constitutional liberties will come to grief.

—The New York Navy Yard will be the largest and most important naval station in the world when its improvements and enlargements, soon to be made, are completed. Its facilities must be made equal to the demands of a rapidly growing navy, as it is the principal yard for repairs. Its enlargement is a certain consequence of the future necessities of the numerous ships now under construction at private yards. The sum of $1,500,000 is to be expended, of which $750,000 is to be available in 1905—if Congress approves. The plans include cutting away and dredging that part of the yard now included in the Cob Dock, and in enlarging the yard by filling in another large plot, so that there will be no loss of land space. The improvement also includes the construction of large piers and another dry dock. Eventually there will be dry-dock accommodations for three battle ships and a smaller dry dock for cruisers and small boats, and there will be piers at which thirteen battle ships can be secured, convenient to the repair shops.

THE MANAGEMENT OF PROPERTY

By FREDERICK G. HOBBS

*From an address delivered by Mr. F. G. Hobbs, of the firm of Slawson & Hobbs, to the Real Estate Class of the Y. M. C. A., on Tuesday evening, December 6.

THE general subject, "Management of Property," is capable of as many subdivisions as there are different classes of property. The particular class of property about which I have been asked to talk to you is that which is known among real estate agents and buyers as investment property, and my remarks are to be confined to the management of apartment houses, apartment hotels and private houses, which are owned as an investment and for rent rather than for personal occupancy.

Many persons with abundant means but without experience in practical management of property have taken advantage of the usual opportunity afforded for safe and remunerative investment in this class of property. The amount of capital so invested is constantly increasing, so that there is a constant demand for men especially educated, trained and qualified to undertake the work and responsibility of property management.

The tendency in recent years, in business as well as in professions, has been towards specialization; the business of managing real property presents no exception to the general tendency in this regard. As the demand for people of special training and knowledge of the subject has grown, the number of so-called managers has commensurably increased; but the field is a broad one and offers abundant opportunity and reward to young men of pluck and perseverance, not afraid to study and who appreciate that success in this as in all other lines of business comes as a result of hard work and faithful service.

Many people have the idea that the work of the specialist in managing begins after a building is completed and ready for occupancy. The fact is that in many instances his work begins with the work of the architect. The plans must be first approved by the experienced real estate manager before the construction of the work can be commenced. What the builder wants and the investor demands is a property that will produce the maximum net return. The builder no longer depends upon the architect alone to plan the house, but confers with the real estate manager as well, for on him he must depend to produce the rents after the building is completed. The advice of the specialist at this early stage of the enterprise is invaluable.

The rent producing qualities of a house are by no means dependent entirely upon the amount of floor space, the quality of plumbing and trim, nor the external effect of the building. The practical arrangement of rooms, the quantity of light and air, etc., are also factors that are of monetary importance in the earnings of the building. The question, however, is one largely of supply and demand, and the specialist must know the locality, and know whether a division into six or seven rooms will be more productive than the smaller or larger suites.

Few if any of the houses of the class referred to, are built entirely with the personal capital of the builder. An active operator expects to make from 10% to 15% on his money by keeping it constantly employed; whereas money can be secured from conservative financial institutions on first-class property at from 4% to 5%. It would not, therefore, be good business policy to keep one's own capital tied up in the one enterprise when money can be obtained on terms which would release one's own capital for use in other operations at perhaps an increased margin of profit.

Here again the judgment and opinion of the specialist is required. Oftentimes the loan is applied for before the structure is begun, and almost always before it is fully completed. The real estate manager must know what the property is worth. The value not alone is dependent on the number of front feet, the height and depth of the house and the proposed cost of construction, but upon its rent producing qualities, what it will rent for? and what is its earning power? and the man enswering those questions, must be able, when the time come, to "make good" by the accomplished fact.

One of the most important problems with which the agent has to contend, is the determination of the scale of rents. As a basis upon which to work out a proper apportionment, a gross rental may be computed in the following manner: To the value of the lot add the total cost of construction which, together with the accumulated interest, is the net cost of the building; to this amount add 10% which is a builder's fair profit. These four amounts aggregate a fair price to an investor. Multiply the total gross cost of the building by 11% and you will have the total gross rental of the building. Now for every $100 added to the income, the value of the owner's equity is enhanced from $1,000 to $1,500.

Having ascertained what the rent charge must be to show a return of 11%, the agent must proceed to divide and apportion the amount to the various apartments. If all apartments had the same floor space, outlook, etc., it would be an easy matter to determine by a mere division by the number of apartments, what should be the rent of each; but we find that the smallest has but ⅔ as much floor space as the largest; we find that sometimes the smallest apartment has the advantage of having more light and air and better location, than the largest apartment, and so on.

The experienced real estate agent looks upon the proposition as an experienced salesman upon his stock of merchandise. He considers the location and accessibility of the house itself, the standard of management which is to be maintained, the nature of its appointments, the attendance and service which is to be provided, the appearance of the house, its approach, the heating, lighting, refrigeration, water supply, elevator service, etc. He knows the class of tenant to which he must cater. He is familiar with the demand. He knows the market and is acquainted with the supply, and by the relation of supply to demand, he is enabled to ascertain and determine the fair market value of the apartments.

In the investigation of a tenant as to his social business or professional standing and his financial ability to meet his obligations, the greatest care must be exercised. In all cases it is well to have references and to thoroughly investigate each reference before the owner gives a lease. Especially valuable and important is it to know the reputation and standing of the applicant at his last place of residence and the circumstances of his removal; too much care in this respect cannot be exercised.

The law of this State provides that in the absence of an agreement in regard to the length of the term, the law will imply an agreement to remain until the first of the following May; this applies to all property in the City of New York. It formerly was the custom to make a lease expire by agreement at the first of May and that custom still maintains in some sections; but it is found not to be wise in the City of New York for the reason that a tenant whose lease expires on the first of May will doubtless find it agreeable and attractive to spend the summer months outside of the city, and apartment houses thus vacated would remain vacant and unproductive some three to four months every year; therefore, most leases in the city are made to expire on October 1. Leases for more than one year which are not reduced to writing, are not good; but the careful agent will not allow the tenant to go into his property without a written lease, clearly stating the terms and conditions upon which the property is taken and providing reasonable means of enforcing the obligation.

I have particularly in mind the right to relet the premises for the account of the tenant and to charge him with the expense of reletting and the difference, if any, between the rent obtained for the balance of the term and that which the lessee had agreed to pay. There are provided by law, various proceedings for the removal of a tenant in case of failure to pay rent or breach of other covenants; but the failure on the part of the tenant to live up to his agreement is the exception and not the rule. Care exercised in the preparation of a lease is to meet the exception and presents no hardship to a tenant who faithfully lives up to his obligations, though it appears to be the general criticism that leases are always written more strongly against the tenant, and, I believe, correctly so, because the landlord has the burden of responsibility by having a large amount of money invested as against the tenant's agreement to pay an annual rent; yet, there is little or no objection found with the lease by a tenant who faithfully intends to keep his obligation.

For the same reason, the careful lease protects the owner against the demands of unreasonable tenants. It is usual to incorporate in the lease a provision that the tenant shall make all repairs and maintain the premises in as good condition as when they were received, reasonable wear and tear excepted. This provision is unnecessary, as the law provides that in the absence of a special agreement, the tenant is liable for all repairs, but it is thought best to have the provision thoroughly stated so that there can be no question in that regard, and I believe it is for the best interest of the landlord to see to it himself and at his own expense, that this is done. A long experience has shown it to be good business policy, however, to make such reasonable repairs as may be necessary to maintain a good condition; a property neglected as to repairs and improvements, soon shows signs of such carelessness and indiscretion, and the result is reduced rents and shrinkage in value.

The agent is bound to diligently look out for the interest of his principal at all times. The measure of his responsibility is the care which a reasonable man would exercise in looking after his own business. By neglect of some ordinary precaution which a reasonable man would observe in the conduct of his own business, the agent may render himself as well as his principal liable for the damage caused by his neglect.

OFFICE ACCOUNTS.

The method of keeping accounts depends somewhat upon the extent to which the agent is to represent the owner. If the agent is to have complete charge, he should keep a record of dates for the payment of interest, taxes, insurance premiums, etc. Records should also be kept of the expiration of the mortgages and insurance policies. Orders for repairs must be carefully recorded, the work inspected, and the bills properly audited before payment. Copies of all contracts made in regard to the property, should be kept and recorded. Names and records of all employees should be filed and indexed to show that proper care is exercised in their selection. A record should be kept of all complaints with investigations and action taken in regard to each. The names of all tenants, records of all leases, and the reports of investigations, must be appropriately classified and recorded. All correspondence should be properly filed. An account of money received as rents, should be deposited in a manner to indicate that it is a trust account and should not be co-mingled with one's own funds. Regular and frequent reports should be rendered so that the owner may at all times be fully informed of the condition of his property.

The rate of compensation for services rendered by a managing agent varies and is dependent upon the special skill of the agent and the demand for his services. Custom prescribes the rate of the broker's commission for renting to be 1% on the total rent for the term of the lease secured, providing that term is three or more years; for a period of less than three years, 2½% on the first year's rental. Established standard of value for agent's commission for collecting rents services is 2½% on the amount of money collected; agent's charge from three to five per cent. for renting and collecting, ordering and superintending of repairs, etc. The rate varies as to size, condition, and rental value of the property, all of which is taken into consideration in each case at the time of making the formal agreement of the relation of landlord and agent.

It is usual to make contracts for management for one year with proviso that a contract shall continue in force from year to year thereafter unless either the owner or the agent gives notice prior to the expiration of any year, that he desires to terminate the contract, containing also the conditions on which the relation can be terminated so that there will be no misunderstanding in case the property passes out of the hands of the contracting owner.

In the management of property you have a business which lacks the extenuating fascination and occasional large returns which follow successful negotiations, but you have a steady business which requires utmost concentration, the daily performance of well defined duties, the constant meeting of new conditions, and the application of everyday practical common sense, which, however, will insure a permanent annual income on which you can depend.

Property wisely bought and properly managed will certainly pay a reasonable income; property unwisely bought and improperly managed will not pay a reasonable income. A man, because he has sufficient means to purchase a property can no more expect to at once become a competent real estate manager by purchasing property than he could expect to become an expert manufacturer by purchasing a mill. Whenever you hear of a piece of property which does not pay you can depend upon it that the owner has either paid too much for it, or improperly manages the property, or both. No positive rules will at all times apply to the management of property; practical experience is the best educator.

No one man, however, can attempt to satisfactorily perform all the varied duties connected with the management of property. The agent particularly devotes his time to the administration of the duties of the office and the property, and cannot personally give time to the working out of all the duties. He must, therefore, be surrounded by able lieutenants, such as lawyers, subsidiary agents, bookkeepers, mechanics, etc. For instance, in case of legal trouble, you would not expect the agent to personally conduct a case at court.

The agent must procure the services of a competent lawyer who is especially qualified in real estate law to protect agent and landlord at all times against imposing and scheming tenants. The lawyer must be one who will take as much interest in the collection for you of $30 arrears in rent, as he would if he were retained on an important case for, we will say, the Standard Oil Company. Again, you do not expect the agent to attend to the detail of repairs, collecting of rents, ordering of coal, etc.

These various duties are performed by his subsidiary agents, in the selection of which too much care cannot be exercised. For they daily visit the properties, superintend all work, such as decorating, carpentering, plumbing, and the many other details which it is unnecessary to recite here, and a competent trustworthy force of this sort is the mainstay of a successful managing department. In the selection of mechanics the agent, on account of the vast amount of work and prompt payment of bills, has not a small advantage over an individual.

But here again he must use discretion and patronize such men only as will give first-class workmanship at reasonable rates, for much criticism and objection to the work can be averted if the agent can convince the landlord that he has procured the maximum amount and quality of work at the minimum price.

National Civic Federation.

On Thursday night the annual dinner of the National Civic Federation was given at the Park Avenue Hotel, 270 members and friends attending. Samuel Gompers, the first vice-president of the Association and president of the American Federation of Labor presided. H. H. Vreeland, chairman of the Welfare Department, Secretary Ralph M. Easley and Francis L. Robbins, chairman of the Department of Trade Agreements, read their reports. A letter from President Roosevelt was read. Archibishop Ireland and John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, delivered addresses. August Belmont was elected president. The other officers were re-elected, as follows: Samuel Gompers, first vice-president; Oscar S. Straus, second vice-president; Henry Phipps, chairman of the executive committee; C. A. Moore, chairman of conciliation committee; H. H. Vreeland, chairman of welfare department; Francis L. Robbins and John Mitchell, chairman trade agreement committee; Ralph M. Easley, chairman of executive committee, and Samuel B. Donnelly, secretary.

—The suburbs of the city, now that the Subway is opening out and surface railroads are developing their rural accommodations, and the rivers are being crossed by new bridges and tunnels, will occupy a far larger place in the minds of city speculators hereafter. We mean by this that these fair fields are not to be left exclusively to the rural operator; city companies will take a hand in the developing proceedings. A moderate city compactness some day will stretch far out into the country; up the Hudson to Croton; along the Sound to New Rochelle; over Long Island to Jamaica; along the Jersey shore; on the summit and western slope of the Palisades to Tappan and Piermont, and across Staten Island. All will be New York in fact if not in name; and beyond Manhattan Island and the old parts of Brooklyn the buildings will be mostly private residences for one or two families. The construction unit will be small but infinitely multiplied; the operations will be enormous in the aggregate.

THE TITLE INSURANCE BUSINESS

How the Guarantee Companies Can Be Useful to Real Estate Brokers

By FRANK BAILEY

In an address on "Title Insurance," delivered before the Real Estate Class of the Y. M. C. A., by Mr. Frank Bailey, vice-president of the Title Guarantee & Trust Company, the speaker said in part:

THE title guarantee companies fill a very considerable niche in the real estate broker's business life. The size of this niche and the extent of the usefulness of any of these companies to the broker depend upon the ability at the head of the title guarantee company, the financial resources of the company and upon the broker. To illustrate the importance of these companies to the real estate brokers and the realty interests, it is necessary first of all to more or less extensively explain the conditions before title guarantee companies existed—the history and resources of these companies, the extent of their operations, and resultantly their great aid to the broker, provided he will and does use them according to their capabilities and capacity. In reviewing these facts I must of necessity draw upon the history of the company with which I have been connected for nearly twenty years, for humanity is human even in title companies, and the company which is now in its twenty-second year cannot but be dear to those who have been among its pilots for the past score of years. If, therefore, I refer to it hereafter as "our company," you will pardon me.

Our Company, which is the largest Title Guarantee Company in the United States, was incorporated in 1882, being the first company to start business in New York State. From a humble beginning of $200,000 capital, it has grown until its total resources are now over $30,000,000. It was formed by men who were weary of the old system of passing titles and who wished to adapt business methods to a great business. Before the formation of this Company, it was customary for the buyer of a parcel of property or the lender of a sum of money, to select as his representative a lawyer who made a specialty of real estate work. The lawyer, then, at the expense of the borrower or the buyer, examined the title after much delay, by the same methods which had been in use for the past hundred years and more. First, the lawyer obtained all the papers affecting the title, in possession of the former owner, including, if possible, an abstract or history of the title, then he or his clerk attended at the Register's Office and examined and re-examined the deeds of which he had a memorandum, in order to spell out the title and pass upon the validity of the instruments of which he then had notice. Co-ordinately attendance was made at the County Clerk's Office for the purpose of examining partition, foreclosure and other suits which might affect the title, and at the Surrogate's Office to examine all wills through which title might be derived. This work being finished, the searches were prepared.

The searches were requests made to the Register, County Clerk, Tax Bureau, Loan Commissioners and Clerks of the United States Courts, for a list of all liens or instruments affecting the property in accordance with the memorandum of names submitted. Thus, if John Brown owned a parcel of ground for a certain period, searches were made in the Register's Office for mortgages and deeds, in the County Clerk's Office for all notices of lis pendens, certificates of sheriff's and marshal's sales, notices of forclosure by advertisement, insolvent assignments, general assignments, appointments of receivers, bonds of collectors and their sureties, appointments of trustees of absconding, concealed, non-resident or imprisoned debtors, exemptions under homestead act, and unsatisfied mortgages to the Commissioners for loaning certain moneys of the United States, affecting said premises, and for judgments and mechanics' liens; in the office of the Clerk of the United States Court for judgments for ten years and in the Tax Office for all taxes, assessments and water taxes.

These searches were certified by the various officers for an established schedule of fees. Each public and some private offices had a share of the plunder. The fees were increased by 50 per cent. in case of expedition, and all searches were expedited. The fees exacted for these searches in each title were enormous, sometimes reaching $500 in a single transaction. The offices of Register and County Clerk, being fee offices, were the prize offices of New York County, the net income derived by the occupants being not less than $100,000 per annum from each office. The waste was tremendous and it all came from the pocket of the property owner. In the case of an active real estate operator, who was constantly buying and selling and whose name appeared in the chain of title of every parcel in a section, various attorneys for various buyers have undoubtedly paid as much as $5,000 for judgment searches against him in one year. During the years 1870 to 1890 probably $50,000 was paid in fees for searches to the Commissioners for loaning State money. There were only 210 mortgages in the County of New York.

I could enlarge. The expense alone was not the chief evil. The delays caused by the duplication of the work were unjustified and expensive. Titles were examined and re-examined and then examined over again, for no buyer dared to trust the attorney for the seller, and every institution had its own lawyer for whom a borrower's purse must be opened. In case of a purchase, re-sale and a loan, these attorneys might, and often were, examining and re-examining the same title at the same time, and always at full rates;—there was never any reduction. Neither the delays nor the expense, however, were the greatest evils. In the end you received a large bundle of papers called an abstract which, on account of its expense, you were expected to venerate and reverence, and an opinion to the effect that the lawyer thought your title was good, but that he did not guarantee it or back it up in any way by his personal responsibility.

Such was the condition of the real estate owner and dealer when the first title guarantee company came into existence. That company represented the first interference with the business of lawyers since society has been civilized. The opposition was fierce and strenuous, but the evil was so great and the hand of the mighty so heavy that the company grew and prospered, for it met a public necessity. It could only have succeeded through the application of business methods to real estate transfers. That it has succeeded beyond the hopes of its organizers is because it has become a necessity to the realty interests of this great city.

The requirement and demand was for an independent authority which would decide and could speak loudly because of its immense capital—a great corporation which would say:

"This title is good, we have examined it and will guarantee to you that if it is bad or defective in any way or we have made a mistake, we will stand the loss. It is no longer necessary for the seller and the buyer and the lender each to have a title separately examined at double expense. We, a skilled company of lawyers, backed by ample capital, will do the work for you once and for all and instead of an opinion, abstract and hope, leaving you to take the risk, will give you our bond and hold you harmless because of our errors. We are equipped with the best tools and the best machinery—we have the best lawyers—we have the best counsel—we are specialists in this great business."

Recognition came immediately upon the completion of the equippment of the company.

The first great work of the company was the making of a locality index of the records of New York and Kings Counties. That index has cost the company over $1,000,000, and it is the key to its success. Without it titles could not be examined at the rates charged or within the time allowed. The locality index was compiled by copying the essential part of every deed recorded in the city records. A ledger account was opened with each and every plot of ground in the city and there was posted to that account, every instrument affecting that plot. The key was the property, not the name.

The making of this great index was a gigantic task. It took five years to compile in New York County alone and is composed of 8,000,000 slips, every one of which was handled thirty-five times before it reached its proper or resting place. With that index the company is enabled to examine a title without an abstract at half the expense and in one-quarter of the time formerly taken by lawyers. Our company now has a plant, or locality index, of all the records of New York, Kings, Queens and Westchester counties, and is equipped for work in all these counties. By the use of this locality index it is enabled to remove the item of searches or disbursements, which formerly made the indifinite and largest part of the bill of the lawyers, and so do its work at a fixed schedule of charges.

The certainty of a limit of charges and the substantial guarantee afforded its policyholders, rapidly forced the company to the fore.

At the same time, with the development of the title insurance business, an unexpected necessity came to the managers of our company. That necessity was the lending of money to its customers. We found that while the arguments for title insurance might be overpowering, all avenues for the borrowing of money by its policyholders were closed unless the owner would submit to the imposing of fees which the lawyers had forever been receiving. It was very difficult to persuade the president of a savings bank, whose son was counsel to the institution, that a policy of title insurance was better or even as good as the unbacked opinion of his son. The family advantage was not so great. Early, therefore, in the history of the company, it was apparent that its development would be retarded or stifled unless resources were afforded to the borrowers and policyholders. Necessity in this case rapidly became a virtue, producing large revenues to the company. Our company speedily developed a distinct and new business, to wit, the merchandizing of bonds and mortgages. We are now the largest lender on bond and mortgage in the United States, lending over $50,000,000 in the metropolis this year, and the largest mortgage merchant in the world.

In order to produce a market for its mortgages, another distinct but allied corporation was formed, called the Bond and Mortgage Guarantee Company. That company guarantees the payment of the good mortgages obtained by the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, from its customers for ½ per cent. per annum, taking all the care and management of the mortgage from the investor and sending a check for the interest with governmental regularity.

Our company, with its ally, has been able to introduce New York City mortgages to investors in many States of the Union and to savings banks all over New York State, and for a limited amount in foreign countries. The importance of our company, therefore, as the money center for the realty interests is manifest, and the popularizing of mortgages as investments has been as beneficial to real estate as any event in the past decade. The reformation of the mortgage business is going on hand in hand with the reformation of the business of examining titles.

On next Tuesday Mr. Minturn Post Collins will speak on "Investments in the Fifth Avenue Section."

Effect of the Bronx Boom on Manhattan Lots.

Not a little curiosity and some apprehension has been shown in certain circles concerning the effect upon other vacant lots of the boom in the Bronx and on Washington Heights. More particularly, the unoccupied sites on the upper West Side are referred to. Investigations by the Record and Guide indicate that the only immediate effect will be that a proportion of builders who have been accustomed to operating in that section are migrating to the Bronx, with the expectation that they will be able to make quicker turns there.

Actual values of available sites are not expected to decline on the upper West Side, but it is intimated that some owners may be willing next spring to accept more reasonable prices.

No real competition is believed to exist between lots in the Bronx and lots on the upper West Side, and as for any migration to Washington Heights, this will be more than made up by the natural increase of wealth and population.

Porter & Co. said this week concerning conditions in the vicinity of their Broadway office, that lots are very stiffly held. They added: "The comparatively few along Broadway and adjacent streets are in the hands of owners who can see the splendid future, and are strong enough to insist upon receiving close to full value. To cite an instance, a lot 25x90 on Broadway, in the vicinity of 100th st, with a 3-sty brick building (at best but a temporary improvement) rented on a 5 per cent, net basis to one tenant, is held in the neighborhood of $45,000. An offer recently made by us of $40,000 having been refused." Other lots were specified as follows:

50x100, between 99th and 100th sts; price, $60,000.

Corner Broadway and 101st st, 127x100; price, $185,000.

125x100, between 106th and 107th sts; price, $160,000.

Street lots on 102d and 103d sts, between Columbus and Amsterdam avs, about $10,000 each.

"We do not consider that there has been any so-called speculations in this locality," continued a member of the firm. "Some properties have been picked up at figures below their value, and quickly turned. The increase here has been gradual and entirely warranted, due to the improved transit facilities consequent upon the operating of the subway trains, and its desirability and attractiveness as a residential section.

"Undoubtedly the recent speculation in the Bronx and Washington Heights has temporarily drawn attention from this locality, but we do not believe that any new buildings there will attract residents from here, and we are firmly of the opinion that any new apartments in this locality ready for next spring or next fall, can and will be promptly rented.

"We have no vacancies in any of the elevator apartment buildings in our charge, yet are having a steady demand, which for this time of the year is exceptional, and which we are unable to supply."

The Labor Situation.

Practically all the unions still locked out by the Building Trades Employers' Association have recently made fresh overtures to the association for reinstatement. Last week a large number of the tile-layers succumbed as individuals and accepted the conditions imposed by their employers, which amounted to desertion from their old union and entrance into the new one. The stone cutters, the plasterers and the carpenters, which are the principal trades still holding out, have unsuccessfully, as unions, endeavored to open negotiations for a settlement.

The employers will not recognize them in their organized capacity. Last Saturday a committee reported to the Joint Manhattan District Council of Brotherhood and Amalgated Carpenters that it had been unable to arrange for a formal conference with the Emergency Committee of the association. This week the stone cutters and the plasterers met with similar rebuffs.

The only way the journeymen can get back to work for the employers in the big association is by joining the new unions in their respective trades, after signing individual papers. It is admitted by the bosses that they are in need of more men, but they seem to be resolved to fight it out on this line.

An opinion frequently heard is that while the men in sufficient numbers may, under the stress of the season, accede temporarily to the employers' terms, the war will be renewed with greater intensity later on, unless a permanent treaty be arranged satisfactory to all interests. The necessity of some kindly interference, some tender of pacification from intermediary friends is apparent, else real estate and building interests in general will become gravely apprehensive.

> "Why cannot there be convened at once a parliament of representatives, of employers and journeymen, from all the building trades, to devise a New Arbitration Plan, one which every interest properly concerned will have a part in formu-

A Dissent From Some Sweeping Attacks Upon Unionism

Its Wholesale Condemnation not Warranted by its Occasional Errors Nor in Accord with its Better Leadership

By RALPH M. EASLEY,
Chairman Executive Council, National Civic Federation

Granting all the charges brought against labor unions to be true, and multiplying them a hundredfold, what is the result? They would prove that some labor unions and some labor leaders have committed grave offences against society and against themselves. That proposition is admitted.

But it remains none the less true that the trades unions of this country, no matter what per cent. of all the wage earners they include, or what incidental crimes they have committed, have a fundamental purpose which all will admit to be for the benefit of society as a whole. They are striving to improve the condition of the working masses. Organized labor has been struggling for this end, not only alone and unaided, but against the general opposition of employers, individual and organized, and against the misrepresentations of prejudiced critics, when, in fact, it deserved the friendly co-operation of them all. Labor has constantly had to evolve its own leadership. It has made all the mistakes of unskilled generalship and undisciplined following. It makes them still. But the time has come when those who have some understanding of the hardships and misdirections that hamper the advance of labor are extending the sympathetic aid of their superior intelligence.

There are associations of employers who would beat down the advance of labor with a bludgeon. There are other associated employers who would come to terms of mutual understanding. This second method, I am glad to say, receives more and more the approval of leaders of public opinion and of humane and intelligent employers. In the multiplication of concrete examples of relations between employer and employed that are harmonious because they are just, can be discerned a brightening outlook in the entire industrial situation. In this view national prosperity will be coincident with the uplifting of organized labor, so that its admitted errors may become fewer and its sincere co-operation with capital in increasing productivity more frequent. Some hopeful phases of the mutual progress of organized capital and labor in this direction I shall illustrate in a subsequent article for the Record and Guide.

lating, and which would be adhered to honorably; the first act of the Parliament to be the declaration of a truce?" This is a proposal that we have heard, and commend to the consideration of those who are able to give it effect.

The following statement was issued this week by the Greater New York Stone Contractors' Association to the trade:

"The Employers' Association has succeeded in securing nearly 700 men to go to work, and are proceeding with their contracts as usual, and there is no doubt that the number will be largely added to before January 1st. One of the interesting facts in connection with the strike has been that in several of the yards far more work is being accomplished at the present time and with fewer men than before the strike, as the men are not afraid to do a full day's work. All of the mills are now in full operation, and the erection of stone work is proceeding as usual. The Greater New York Cut Stone Contractors' Association has found that the formation of new organizations of Independent Stone-Cutters has helped greatly in giving it the success which it has so far achieved. Three organizations of stone-cutters have been formed, one in Brooklyn, one in Newark, and one in New York. These organizations will be parties to the Arbitration Agreement of the Building Trades Employers' Association, and will exchange cards with each other, and will be practically one organization. A new union, consisting of skilled carvers and sculptors, has also been formed, which will finally embrace all of the skilled men in the metropolitan district, and will also sign the Arbitration Agreement. The formation of these unions means that ultimate and complete success on the part of the Greater New York Cut Stone Contractors' Association is assured. It is safe to predict that it is only a question of a short time before the strike will be over and the principles of arbitration firmly established in the stone trade. It has been a long and expensive strike, but the advantages obtained more than compensate for the expenditure involved, and it is firmly believed that the principles of arbitration will secure peace and prosperity in the stone trade for a long term of years."

It will be remembered that when the association was formed a clause was inserted in its constitution to the effect that the association would not tolerate the passage of any resolutions whose purpose was to control or in any way deal with prices or restrict competition. This resolution was odious to many employers who were imbued with the Chicago idea of a combination between employers and employees to the advantage of both, and that they refused to join the association.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

Although the total number of sales reported for the week is lower than for last week, being one hundred and eighty-nine as against two hundred and twenty-seven for Manhattan and The Bronx, the dealing is of a distinctly better character, as is also the variety of properties dealt in. The purchase in Gold street by the U. S. Leather Co. is probably the beginning of a movement in a street that has seen no improvement for years. In addition to this there were sales on Pearl, Greenwich and West streets which were of more than ordinary interest. The dealings in Manhattan were divided as follows: Sixty-four flats and tenements, twelve dwellings, sixteen old buildings, and only thirty-nine lot transactions, and representing only one hundred and seventy-seven lots, a great falling off from recent weeks. The Bronx also shows a very decided falling off where there have been in the past month hundreds of lot deals reported each week there are only fifty-three this week, representing two hundred and fifty-three lots.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

ANN ST.—The Nassau-Beekman Co. (Potter & Brother) have bought from the New York Steam Power Co., 57 and 59 Ann st., four 2 and 5-sty structures, on a plot 28.4x122.9, with an "L" in the rear, about 62x75, running westerly to the east line of the Morton Building; an adjoining 5-story building, 61 Ann st, on a plot 25.1x115.6x122.9x25 feet, from Anna Moore; 25 Beekman st, a 5-sty building, on a lot 23x102.8, bought from the Ruland & Whiting Co.; 27 Beekman st, adjoining, a 5-sty building, on a lot 23x101.2, bought from F. E. Miles; 29 Beekman st, adjoining, a 5-sty building, on a lot 22.6x100.6, bought from Edward V. Z. Lane. The total frontage in Ann st is 53.5 feet and that in Beekman st is 68.6 feet. This makes a plot 53.5x216x68.6x102.8x 57.4x63.10x75.2x74.6, in the block between Nassau, Beekman, William and Ann sts. The area of the plot is about 18,500 square feet.

A LARGE LEATHER WAREHOUSE FOR THE SWAMP.

GOLD ST.—The United States Leather Co. singned contracts for the purchase of a large plot running through from Gold st to Jacob st, between Frankfort and Ferry sts, with an "L" to 9 Ferry st. This plot, which is owned by Ambrose K. Ely, adjoins on the north the Healy Building, which is at the northeast corner of Gold and Ferry sts. The price is about $275,000. The plot is covered with old buildings, and has an area of about 20,500 square feet. It has a frontage of 69.10 feet at 92 to 96 Gold st, running back 202.4 feet to 5 to 17 Jacob st, where the frontage is 112.8 feet. The "L" at 9 Ferry st is 24.9x116.10. It is the intention of the United States Leather Co. to erect a large warehouse building on this plot, probably with executive offices on the ground floor.

GREENWICH ST.—The Charles F. Noyes Co. report the sale of 370 Greenwich st, a 5-sty store and loft building, on plot 25x100, for George H. Robinson to Charles Bettals. Mr. Bettals, after making extensive alterations and improvements, will occupy a portion of the building for his business.

LOWER WEST STREET IS COMING ON.

WEST ST.—The block front on West st, between Cedar and Albany sts, has been bought from George W. Murray, as executor of the estate of John C. Bean, by a syndicate headed by William H. Chesebrough, in which Oakleigh Thorne and William G. Park are also interested. This syndicate has also bought the adjoining parcel at 21 Albany st, 24.2x79.4, from Florence W. Kenney. The block front measures 158 feet on West st and extends 78 feet in depth on both Cedar and Albany sts—the properties combined having an area of about 13,000 square feet, now covered with old brick buildings. The sale of the West st block front to the syndicate was negotiated by F. J. E. Carroll, and that of 21 Albany st by Fish Brothers.

17TH ST.—Innes & Center, in conjunction with H. J. Sachs, have sold 114 and 116 West 17th st, a 4-sty building, on plot 50x 92. It is reported that Louis Sachs is the buyer.

The buyer, presumably, is the client of the same firm of brokers who purchased earlier in the week 18 East 40th st, and who now controls a frontage of 51 feet at that point with the 24-foot lot extending through to 39th st. The adjoining lots to the east on 39th st, together with 268 and 270 Madison av, are owned by George MacCulloch Miller.

The price paid is said to be the record price for street lots above 42d st. The entire property, which had a frontage of 96 feet 10 inches on 5th av and 150 feet on 44th st, was bought May 21, 1902, from the Paran Stevens estate for $925,000 by a syndicate composed of Percival W. Montgomery, and was resold in May, 1904, to the Century Realty Co, who shortly afterward resold a one-half interest to the United States Realty and Construction Co. Building Operations.

New Mercantile Building For The Swamp.

As printed in another column of this paper, the United States Leather Co., of 28 Ferry st, is getting together a parcel in the "Swamp" upon which to erect a new building, probably to be the largest in that section. Mr. Fred Knapp, of the company, who has charge of the project, declined to give any information at this time concerning his building plans.

Improvements to Bradford Street Hospital, Brooklyn.

BRADFORD ST.—The old Bradford Street Hospital, near Fulton st, Brooklyn, is to be materially improved, or a fine new building will be erected. The present structure is of brick, and was entirely renovated when the city opened it as a hospital. It was for years the only police station in the district, and is said to be the best known building in the 26th ward. Dr. J. F. Fitzgerald, 1081 Bergen st, has the matter in charge, and can give information. No plans have been prepared or architect selected.

New $300,000 Hotel For Forty Fifth Street.

45TH ST.—Plans for a new 12-sty hotel, 57.6x80 feet in size, will be ready for estimates in the office of Gordon, Tracy & Swartwout, 156 5th av, in about two weeks. The structure will be situated in West 45th st, 71-73-75, and is estimated to cost $300,000. The owners are the Long Acre Realty Co., of 135 Broadway, of which E. Clifford Potter is president; Benjamin Mordecai, secretary, and Henry J. Braker, treasurer. Plans call for a tile roof, a facade of brick, stone, terra cotta and limestone, steel frame, wrought-iron fire-escapes, steam heat, galvanized iron skylights, cornices, elevators, etc. No contracts have been issued.

No Architect Yet for Altman's New Store Building.

5TH AV.—Mr. Altman, of the firm of B. Altman & Co., Sixth av, 18th and 19th sts, informs the Record and Guide that no plans have been drawn nor architect yet definitely chosen for the firm's new store building which will be erected on 5th av, on the block between 34th and 35th sts, immediately opposite the new building of the Knickerbocker Trust Co., and diagonally across from the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. It was at first said that Trowbridge & Livingston, of 424 5th av, were preparing sketches for a building on this site, but upon investigation it was learned from Messrs. Trowbridge & Livingston that the plans in question were for a loft building intended for Arthur Astor Carey, of Boston, and which was to occupy but a portion of the block. When interviewed by a representative of the Record and Guide, Mr. Altman said: "We shall proceed as fast as possible with the building, and hope to be able to announce our plans in a week or ten days." While he had not yet acquired by actual sale the full block front on Fifth av when the first rumors were circulated, on last Sunday, it is or was understood that Mr. Altman had obtained an option on the remaining frontage, so that the establishment will occupy the full block, instead of having a thorn in its side like the R. H. Macy & Co. building. While Mr. Altman has no plans or architect yet, it is confidently expected in the trade that his building will be imposing and elegant, and probably surpassing any mercantile predecessor on the line. Whoever will be so fortunate as to be chosen architect or contractor will find in him a good employer.

(For plans filed, see Pages 1388 and 1412.)

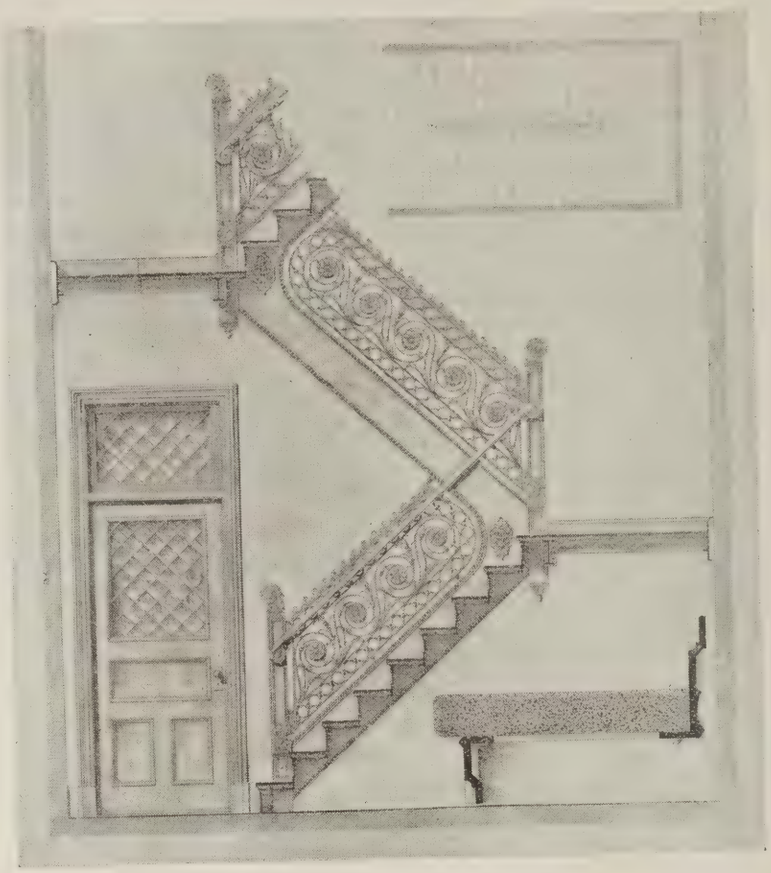
FIREPROOF ORNAMENTATION.



Last week we spoke here of the usual Difficulty that occurs whenever the Architect endeavors to unite Fireproofing and Ornamentation.

Too often the most Artistic Elements of a Building are the most Combustible.

The Staircase and Stairs offer particular Difficulties.

Not so, however, when "Hecla Fireproofing" is employed.

By using "Hecla Fireproofing" the Architect has at his Disposal Materials as incombustible as Terra-Cotta and as Artistic as Bronze.

Are They Competent?

Before Justice Dickey of the Supreme Court of Brooklyn, this week, a hearing occurred in the injunction preceedings brought by the Hecla Iron Works of Brooklyn, restraining further proceedings in the matter of carrying out the contract for the stack work in the New York Public Library. The trial is to be continued.

To controvert any possible surmise that the Hecla Iron Works are not qualified to perform the work of manufacturing and erecting the library stacks, President Poulson exhibits the following letter from a distinguished architect:

New York, Dec. 12th, 1904.

My Dear Mr. Poulson:

In compliance with your request that I should express my opinion concerning the general character of the architectural and ornamental iron work manufactured by your company, I beg to state as follows:

I have enjoyed a personal acquaintance with yourself and your partner, Mr. Eger, from the very time when, many years ago, you started to manufacture ornamental iron work for buildings as a special and distinct branch from structural iron work. I have seen your establishment grow from modest dimensions to become the largest and most complete of its kind in the world—the Hecla Iron Works. From the very start your products were stamped with the highest artistic merit and superior construction. Your skill, enterprise and courage met with full appreciation, you rapidly took precedence and have continuously kept far in advance of others; indeed, your firm were the pioneers and leaders in that class of work in this country and created a demand for that which had no prior existence.

Your business expanded, and as building after building was added to your original works, foundries for brass and iron, forging shops, fitting shops, plating shops, modeling shops, each supplied with the best modern appliances, apparatus and machinery, much of it being of special construction, buildings for drafting and photographing, and the installation of processes for making the surfaces of iron rustless, for plating iron with bronze and other finishes by which iron is made practicably indestructible; each step of progress was in the line of producing work of the highest standard both in artistic design and exquisite workmanship.

It was allotted to me some six years ago to prepare an article on the History of Ornamental Iron Work for Buildings, as part of the elaborate publication in book form of the History of Real Estate, Building and Architecture in New York, by the Record and Guide. In that history I said:

> "It is largely due to the skill and enterprise of the proprietors of the Hecla Iron Works that nowhere else in the world can be found as artistic interior iron work in modern buildings as in this country. Types of iron work unknown twenty years ago, and which would have been impossible of production by any processes of manufacture then in vogue, are to be seen now in nearly every first-class modern building in New York, and in other large cities in this country. The influence of the artistic labors of Messrs. Poulson and Eger has spread far and wide and the methods initiated by this firm are being followed by many other manufacturers. . . . Few other American industries have grown with such rapidity as ornamental iron work, and but few other manufacturers better illustrate the history of the progress of the American people in skill and refinement."

The Hecla Iron Works continue to stand pre-eminent in the production of artistic iron work for building purposes, and it is with great pleasure that I write with personal knowledge to this effect. And I further desire to bear testimony to your straightforward business ways and sterling honesty in all your transactions, which to many persons would be deemed almost of equal importance with the recognized high financial standing of your company, that any agreement you may enter into will be faithfully and well executed.

Particulars of Wanamaker's Philadelphia Store.

The department store which is being erected in Philadelphia for John Wanamaker is situated on the block bounded on the north by Market st, on the west by Juniper st, on the south by Chestnut st, and on the east by 13th st. Messrs. D. H. Burnham & Co., of Chicago, are the architects of this building, which, when completed, will cover an area approximately 476x246 feet, and will have 12 main floors and 3 mezzanine floors above the street level, and 2 main floors and a mezzanine floor below ground.

The total number of square feet of floor and roof area in the entire building will be approximately 1,600,000, which will make this by far the largest fireproof building ever erected under one roof. This building is being erected in sections, and at the present time the first section, which covers about one-fourth of the entire ground area, is under roof.

The system of fireproofing which is being used in this building is that known as the Roebling System B, Type 3, construction, which consists of a cinder concrete flat arch, and in which type all the beams, girders and other structural steel are entirely encased in concrete. To the under side of the floor beams, suitable steel clips and channel iron furring are attached, after which wire lath is applied affording level ceiling effects.

The Roebling Construction Co.'s contract also embraces the concrete fireproofing of the columns, the steel stud and wire lath partition and exterior wall furring construction, etc.

Probably the most remarkable feature in connection with the erection of the section now under way, is the rate at which the fireproof construction has been installed. This section embraces a floor and roof area of about 400,000 square feet, and the fireproof construction has been put in at the rate of 10,000 square feet per day of eight hours.

The plant installed by the Roebling Construction Co. in connection with this work, is, however, so ample and well equipped that even at this great speed only one-half of the capacity of the plant was employed—the rate of installation being such that the fireproof construction was at all times within one tier of the erected structural steel.

To Alter The Richardson "Spite House."

Plans have been filed for the remodeling of the famous Richardson "Spite House," built by the late millionaire, Thomas A. Richardson, at the northwest corner of Lexington av and 83d st, after a dispute with Hyman Saruer, a Yorkville clothier, who planned many years ago to build a large flat house on adjoining property on 82d st. The building is a 4-sty dwelling, 102.2 feet on the avenue, but only 5 feet wide on 82d st. The present owner, Edward A. Boyd, intends to build six stores on the ground floor, which is now unoccupied and boarded up. The three upper stories, which have been occupied as a dwelling for one family, will continue to be so used.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the inpstrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only, and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before 2d figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whnever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

[1]Editor of Record and Guide:

Dear Sir:—The mechanic's lien for $5,900 filed against us on the 14th inst. by Neil Campbell on property south side of 151st Street, 200 feet east of Broadway, 80x100, is without foundation. Mr. Campbell had a contract with us for laying brick work; he abandoned it before completion. We have paid him every dollar that the contract called for and we have been put to loss and expense in completing it. We propose to bond the lien and contest it. Yours truly,

H. RAABE & SONS.

[2]Editor of Record and Guide:

The Varick Contracting Co states that the lien of T. J. Fanning, on No. 111 and No. 113 East 57th St., was causedsimply by the question of the amount due, and they are bonding this lien at once. VARICK CONTRACTING CO.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The Growth of the Record and Guide And Its Necessities.

THE growth of the "Record and Guide" in the last thirty-six years is the most significant and indisputable evidence obtainable of the growth of the real estate and building interests in New York City during a period that covers the working-days of almost two generations. How many remain of those who read the first issues of this publication and for years followed its early career? Their successors, and in many cases the successors of these successors, constitute the public to which this journal now speaks. New York City has grown within that time from a town of quite modest dimensions and almost parochial character to the position of one of the greatest and certainly the most vital of the world's capitals. If New York City has "cashed in," no small part of its great expectations of the early "sixties," the "Record and Guide" has been in a peculiarly special sense the Register of the transaction. Compare the weekly issues of this journal of to-day with those of thirty, twenty or even ten years ago! The comparison is instructive. The measure of the difference to be noted would no doubt surprise even those of our readers who have been most closely associated with the progress. Machinery that works smoothly and accelerates its speed regularly and gradually conceals its own motion. The "Record and Guide" has so steadily and persistently moved with the growth and development of the interests it represents that the vast increase in the service it renders its readers may easily be overlooked by the multitude who are not curious regarding such affairs. In the matter of mere bulk, this journal to-day is one of the largest in the world. A few, a very few of our contemporaries print perhaps a greater number of pages, but in those cases the excess consists almost wholly of advertising matter. The "Record and Guide" frequently publishes five pages of text for each page of advertisements, and this, as far as we know, is a proportion quite without parallel in journalism. The usual proportion of advertising to reading matter is page for page. All other papers can control this proportion. They can strictly limit the amount of text they print. With the "Record and Guide, on the contrary, the publisher has assumed a service toward his readers that is not performed until the last recorded legal account has been transcribed, verified and printed. In this way the paper can be regarded as strictly an integral part of the growth of the city. A very few years ago the average issue of the "Record and Guide" contained fifty-six pages, to-day ninety-six pages are not infrequent, and occasionally even this amount has been exceeded. The temporary overloading of the Register's office, the strain that has been put upon the highly organized title companies and others measures in a sense the task which the "Record and Guide" has discharged without an extra penny of compensation from its subscribers. No one needs to be reminded that the price of other commodities and services, especially labor, and real estate itself have not been stationary, but have increased greatly, so that apart from the larger bulk of the journal it is fair to say that the intrinsic value of the "Record and Guide" in recent years has been augmented at the very lowest computation, fourfold. The machinery for the production of the paper, its staff and the other elements of its organization have been enlarged more than fourfold to meet the requirements.

There is every indication that all that has been done to deal with the situation is inadequate to meet the necessities of even the near future. The Real Estate and Building Trades of New York City are apparently no nearer to their limit of growth than they were thirty-six years ago. The Bronx is just entering upon its career, Brooklyn is absorbing its undeveloped acres and the older sections of the city are only "mewing their mighty youth." New York City has become a more active building center than any other half dozen cities of the Union combined. Millions upon millions are pouring into metropolitan real estate as one of the gilt-edge securities of the world. If the "Record and Guide" in the future is to be of the same service to the Real Estate profession and the Builders that it has been in the past, the greater demands of the years to come must be anticipated and prepared for. The "Record and Guide" has reached the limit of convenient size—yet it must be enlarged. Its service must at the same time be prompt, and, as the saying is, "up to the minute," for this journal is strictly an instrument of trade. An announcement will be made in these pages next week regarding the details of the plan adopted for a new distribution of the contents of the "Record and Guide."

AS the "Record and Guide" anticipated, the stock market has on the whole sagged during the past week. The plain fact is that stocks are not very attractive at present prices, and that some concessions are being made in order to tempt buyers. We do not imagine that these concessions will have to go very far, because reports as to business of all kinds become better and better. The complete rehabilitation of a great property like the Reading Railroad testifies eloquently to the permanently high level which the business of important roads is achieving. Building is becoming more active than it was two years ago throughout the country. The Geo. A. Fuller Company reports, for instance, that it is bidding at the present time on buildings the erection of which will require 67,000 tons of structural steel and $20,000,000 of money. Such facts as these explain the renewed prosperity of the steel trade. If this sort of thing continues it will make for higher values in time; but at present a further bull speculation could only be unwholesome, if successful. Assuming that the business expansion is genuine, it can not for the present spare much money for a huge stock speculation.

MR JOHN B. McDONALD, since he has gone over from the Interborough Company to the New York City Railway Company, is reported as favoring important changes in the new transit routes on which the second company wants to bid. He considers the best route for his company to be a four-track belt line, running down Third Avenue and the Bowery on the East Side, and up Seventh or Eighth Avenue on the West Side. It does not seem to the "Record and Guide" that it would be good economy for the Rapid Transit Commission to accept a route such as the one roughly described above. Mr. McDonald's insistence on a four-track subway is an excellent thing, particularly in view of the fact that his new associates have hitherto been lukewarm upon this essential aspect of a new subway; but Third Avenue is not the one to be used for the purpose. Mr. McDonald's proposal is based frankly upon an abandonment of Lexington Avenue to the Interborough Company to be used as a feeder, and this is right because the streets nearest Central Park on the East Side need the Lexington Avenue subway, which can be operated most efficiently by the Interborough Company. But if Lexington Avenue is tunneled, and if the carrying capacity of the Second and Third Avenue elevated structures are increased, as they should be, it would be a duplication of existing facilities to run a new subway on Third Avenue. That it would be convenient for the Metropolitan interest to have a subway on Third Avenue we can well understand, because Third Avenue is the most central line of travel on the East Side not already pre-empted; but in the interest of a comprehensive and economical transit system, the four-track East Side subway should be run on First Avenue. The new transit system should not be constructed with a view to displacing the elevated roads, but with a view to supplementing them. For the time being the elevated roads should be made as useful as possible. In the end it will be necesary to parallel them with tunnels, and perhaps they can then be dispensed with, particularly the Sixth Avenue line, which, because of its course, is a particular nuisance; but for the present, New York cannot afford to forego any convenient means of rapid transit. New lines should not duplicate lines now in existence as long as other avaliable longitudinal routes remain to be used.

THE volume of real estate transactions is smaller than a few weeks ago; but it is twice as large as it was during the corresponding week last year, and the dealings are of a varied and wholesome character. While the trading in vacant lots has diminished, the purchasing of improved property both for residence and business is increasing. Another Fifth Avenue corner in the new wholesale district has been purchased, which means that three Fifth Avenue corners between Eighteen and Fifteenth Streets will be in the course of improvement in 1905. Indeed, the time is not remote when almost the last traces of residential Fifth Avenue, between Fourteen and Twenty-third Streets, will have disappeared. The fact, however, which appears most conspicuously in the news of the week, is the renewed demand for high-priced residence property. Considering the time of the year, a good many dwellings were sold last week, and a large proportion of them were of an excellent class. The recovery in the stock market and the renewed activity of business is having its inevitable effect, and it may be expected that many new private dwellings of an expensive kind will be built in the coming year. The residential movement on the East Side was checked by bad times before it had run its course; and we expect that in the course of the next few years it will appropriate many streets between Lexington and Fifth Avenues, south of Ninetieth Street, which are now occupied with cheap flats. Many residents on the side streets near Fifth Avenue, between Thirty-fourth and Forty-second Streets, will be forced out by business before long, and they are sure to seek the upper East Side. Conditions are making not only for the multiplication of high-priced dwellings, but for their concentration in a circumscribed district.

JUSTICE DICKEY has decided that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment did not exceed its discretion in letting the contract for the Public Library stacks to the Snead Iron Works, and every layman must assume that he has correctly interpreted the law. There remains, however, something to be said about the equity of this business and the policy of the Board in awarding this contract. That the Board should not be bound to the lowest bidder, but should have the power on occasions of preferring a higher bid, is undoubtedly a wise provision, but the power of rejecting lower bids should be fairly used. In the present instance the Board rejected the bid of the Hecla Iron Works, although it was $200,000 less than that of the successful bidder, on the ground that the former could not fulfill its contract. The absurdity of this reason may be judged when it is remembered that the system of library stacks specified originated in the office of the Hecla Iron Works, and has been used by that company on government work; and when it is also remembered that the Hecla Company is second in its standing to none of the country. It is certainly "up" to the Board of Estimate and the architects of the building to explain more in detail what in the present instance the taxpayers of the city are getting in exchange for their $200,000.

THE fact that an important committee of the Citizens' Union has come out in favor of the municipal ownership of the public lighting service, foreshadows a new alignment in local politics. The "Record and Guide" has always protested against the over-working of moral issues in local elections, because the exploitation of moral issues, while it may occasionally help the party that uses them to win out, can never result in establishing good business traditions and a wise business policy in our local government. What we need in order that such traditions may be established and such a policy prevail, is constant attempts to apply to New York City the experience which other cities have gained in dealing with vital corporate problems; and the only way in which this can be done is by the courageous advocacy of new and radical methods of dealing with old problems. In advocating municipal ownership, the Citizens' Union has raised an issue of the first importance, and one which cannot be evaded. The City of New York is, in respect to its various lighting and power services, in the grasp of certain corporations which monopolize their respective fields. It is possible that these several corporations may be made useful and economical public servants; but such a result will never be obtained except by the exercise of much more efficient checks than any which are now available. The city government should, that is, have the power to compete with these corporations whenever it can be shown that they are making excessive charges and profits. The power may or may not be used; but it should always be held in reserve. In no other way can the city and its citizens be protected against the liability to species of extortion, which would increase in proportion to the growth of New York. The Citizens' Union is well advised in taking its stand on a platform of this kind, which consists chiefly of a definite administrative policy instead of an impossible moral reform. The excellence in certain respects of Mayor McClellan's administration has made the old local party cries and outbursts of moral indignation irrelevant for the immediate future, and that section of the reform party which believes in government on business principles, whether non-partisan or not, should insist on appealing to the voters on vital issues of the kind suggested above.

A "Square Deal" in the Building Trades.

DURING the past few weeks no little space in the "Record and Guide" has been devoted to a discussion of the labor situation in the building trade in this city. Two sides to the controversy have spoken—the Employers and the Unions. It must be perfectly clear to readers of this paper that as long as we confine our attention to the recriminations of these two disputants, it appears that we have a case where, as Sir Roger de Coverly expressed it, "much may be said on both sides." However, there is a third party to this controversy. When we bring this third party into the case it takes on a different aspect. This third party, of course, is the Public. Hitherto, for more than a year the fight between the Employers and the Unions has been conducted, so to speak, behind closed doors; that is, the public were shut out from any interest in the controversy by reason of the conflicting technicalities which usually confuse all labor issues at the outset. The public could get no definite idea of where anybody really was "at." The most that was possible was to catch up some one of the many fine phrases that were flying about—"Arbitration," "Liberty to Work," "Rights of the Employer," the "Open Shop," the "Constitution," the "Golden Rule," and the "Ten Commandments." Finally, the word "Arbitration" became the dominant sound, and so the general notion got abroad that the contest between the Employers and the Unions was solely a contest as to whether there should be strikes with or without previous arbitration. But people are finding out that the closer they put their ear to the ground, the more certain they are to hear much which apparently elucidates the present situation and gives a much-needed clew to the extraordinary perplexing nature of the fight going on. The arbitration question is really not at the bottom of the trouble. Labor is not really fighting for higher wages or against intolerable conditions of any sort. No doubt there are things to be complained of. Until we reach the Golden Gate it will always be possible to desire something else and something better; but there is a difference between the essential and the non-essential, and everybody is quite sure that no one becomes irreconcilable over non-essential matters. It is really inconceivable to the public mind that the Employers are having so much trouble over a downright, straightforward, simple and direct effort to plant the "olive branch" of industrial peace. There must be some difficulty at the root of the attempt. The public are trying to spell out for themselves what is the real nature of the difficulty.

In this effort at spelling, the question is asked: How much is there in the nasty stories that are floating around concerning the insincerity, the selfishness and the graft of both Employers and Labor. Is either side leading exactly the "Simple Life"? It is difficult, of course, ever to get down to facts in answering questions that tend in this direction. By its very nature, graft is also craft, but though it is one of the most difficult of evils to hunt down, people believe that when they hear persistent stories of its existence, they may be pretty sure that while it is wise to believe less than they hear, it is judicious also to believe a good deal more than they see. Certainly it needs something more today than mere denials or explosions of fine indignation to remove the suspicion lodged in the public mind that the Building Trades throughout are more or less tainted by graft of many kinds. The revelations recently made in Court during the trials of Parks and Weinsheimer alone were sufficient to open up many unpleasant vistas. No one whose judgment has reached maturity outside of a young ladies' seminary believes for a moment that those were isolated cases. On the contrary, it is perfectly clear they exposed what we may call a principle, a method, a general state of business morality shared alike by Employers and by Labor. Common sense is "dead against" any conclusion that would limit those criminal stories of bribery and conspiracy to the particular individuals concerned in those particular trials. The corruption that produced an unfortunate—in a sense, a victim and scapegoat—like Parks, was infernally deep-seated and must, by the very nature of things, permeate the building trades.

If we may trust this inference of common sense, we need hardly seek further for an explanation of why the present position of the building trades is so unsettled. We can see why it is the Employers' Association did not speedily succeed in its legitimate purposes; why labor is in a state of confusion without any really apparently adequate cause. Also it is easy to understand that the troubles we see are only surface indications. The evil is fundamental and constitutional. Should anyone then be surprised if the public are beginning to inquire how far the organization of the Employers' Association was the effect of internal abuses and of illicit disunion among the employers themselves? No doubt, the Association indicated a reaction against excessive demands of labor, but was not the Association necessitated quite as much by the lax code of the building trades as by the tyranny of the Unions? When the Employers' Association was formed, the building trades certainly were in a bad state. The teamsters had struck and the Carpenters and others. There was war ahead. To make matters worse, the Unions were clashing among themselves or appeared to be. The situation in New York was beginning to look very much as it had looked in Chicago. The fallings out and the fallings in that occurred between the employers and their men had something in them of a disagreement between partners; not very close partners, it is true, but still associates who despite divergence of interests had still something in common to struggle for. It was also to be inferred that in the course of their connection one with another, each had used and misused the other to such a degree that mutual respect had in a great degree vanished. Let us remember the strongest alliances are not paper compacts. The most substantial agreements are not those put into writing. Indirection may be most direct—when a common purpose exists. What this common purpose may very well have been between Employers and Labor, it is not difficult to see.

For years the "Bosses" in New York City have been inclined, perhaps more than inclined to look upon the Manhattan market as a special possession of their own, a sort of local domain or personal preserve. The claim, of course, was not formulated in a deed recorded in the Register's office. The sense of proprietorship, moreover, was not the same with all individuals nor the same at all times with anybody, neither was there exercised always the same alertness against trespassers, but there was a "general tendency" towards exclusion through the entire building trade, and one can see easily how a tendency of that sort would exercise itself intermittently now in this direction, now in that, now in regard to this job, now that, now against this intruding firm, now that. It was simply the idea of "protection" applied locally to a single group of trades. At the same time, from a different point of view but from a similar general motive, Labor was infected with a like indisposition to maintain an "open door" in New York City. The letter of Union law, no doubt, might offer the widest hospitality to the stranger without the gate, but a brick from the very gate itself might happen to topple upon a visitor who had not a keen sense of local rights. From the Labor point of view precisely as from the Bosses' point of view, New York was more or less private property in the matter of the building trades.

These are the germ-ideas that produces what Mr. Starrett calls the "conspiracy." The Employers and the Union speaking of them in the mass, entered or rather fell into an unpremeditated, indefinite, unformulated conspiracy in the interest of "protection" for both, and this Protection expressed itself in what, in the language of foot-ball, would be called a gradually developed system of "interference." This system of interference, whether it was worked directly or indirectly, by connivance, or by inference, by bribery or by request, by the employers or by a walking delegate, had for its main object the "protection" of the New York market. Protection of this sort is never an altruistic device for the benefit of the greatest number. Somebody is expected to pay for it.

The owners of Real Estate in New York City who should undertake to put up new buildings were the people who had to "pay the freight." The "system" was brought to work so well that even the boss or contractor, who bid for work at a loss, could usually get out of the situation with a profit. Labor naturally as one of the partners, wanted a share in the pie. Protection, the system of conspiracy, percolated to nearly all the trades and all the Unions. It produced a low moral tone. It corrupted insidiously. Parks, for instance, was at one time a straight fellow. He was not a crook. He would not have made his criminal exit from the stage had it not been for the poisonous atmosphere he breathed in employers' offices and the rooms of the Unions. A corrupt practice once adopted tends to form around itself a system. Even practices, partly correct in theory, become radically wrong in application. Underhand compacts follow. Everybody can understand the general idea of how it works.

The game in the building trades went on without protest. As long as there was something to protect and divide, there was no serious kicking anywhere. The organization of the Employers marks, in a general way, the point at which the loss came in for at least one of the parties. There was no longer enough in it for two. The employers had their protection and the rest, but the Unions had made them pay for it. Wages had been increasing right along; output had been restricted; claim after claim had been thrust upon the bosses; they had paid up just and unjust claims all alike so long as there was anything in it for all.

The Employers' Association was at the outset in some measure the monument of a reformed and chastened spirit. It was in a double sense also a protective institution. At the time it was created, it was necessary not only to continue to "protect" the market but also to "protect" against Labor—and a Labor that had lost no little of its respect for the employers as a body, just as the employers had lost patience with the Unions, feeling that they had "gone too far." The employers, however, did not wish to get along without the Unions. They merely desired them to be less exacting. Neither side wanted either the "open market" or the "open shop." The talk about arbitration and all the rest has always had a very different significance for the parties immediately concerned than it had for the public. Of course, if the Employers' Association had really cleaned house, had really put their feet down on the basis of a fair, square deal for everybody—including the Public—the history of the last year or so would have been different. Unfortunately, the vitiating element remains. Wholesome confidence between the Employer and Labor is impossible. And to-day it is impossible for the Public to have any confidence in either.

None believes the employers are all bad or that all labor is all base. Extreme views of any kind are best kept out of the case. The Employers' Asociation has legitimate purposes and those should succeed. The Unions are generaly wholesome; they cannot be abolished or their strength impaired. The bulk of the men, bosses and workmen, do not prefer evil ways or seek illegitimate ends. They are their own victims. Under the pressure of competition, they have simply gone astray, permitted their affairs to drift into practice, which must cease before they can obtain the respect or the hearing of the public. Nothing can be done that is really permanent until the building trades free themselves from cant. Reliance must be placed finally upon a return to fundamental principles. This return will occur beyond any doubt whatever. It is only a question of time. This return must be made because the fundamental principles of life impose themselves upon any community sooner or later. Moreover, as we have stated, the men who constitute Employers and the Unions are in the main built of the right stuff. They know honesty when they see it. They believe in it and they simply "cannot stand," in the long run, for the abuses that have crept into the trades in which they make a livelihood. It is precisely because it is impossible to draw up any specific indictment against the building employers of this City or the Unions that the situation is so indefinite, so muddled, so difficult to concentrate and deal with. The same indefiniteness, however, is also a sign that the coherence of corruption is not complete. What is most needed as a means to the end is to bring the whole situation—good and bad—into a full, free, clear discussion. It must be taken out of the hands of mere individuals or cliques. Everybody must be made to think about it and so permit the play of the common every-day morality and the cammon intelligence of, let us say, the common every-day person. Nobody can have any real interest in the present state.

The National Fireproofing Company Will Stand on Its Rights

Referring to several articles in the press relative to manufacturers of tile fireproofing installing their own material in the City of New York, Mr. H. M. Keasbey, of the National Fireproofing Co., 170 Broadway, said, when interrogated for the Record and Guide, that the National Fireproofing Co., being one of the manufacturers now installing its material in the City of New York, proposes to stand upon its legal rights.

"This company is a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Pennsylvania and authorized to do business in the State of New York, and it proposes to transact any business allotted to it and perform any contracts made with it in said State under its rights as guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution and laws of the State of New York."

Mr. Altman's Plans.

THREE IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENTS.—(1) HE IS THE OWNER OF THE OLD TABERNACLE.—(2) HIS NEW STORE WILL COVER A WHOLE BLOCK.—(3) HE HAS LEASED THE MARSHALL FIELD FRONTAGE ALSO.

The Record and Guide is as yet unable to announce the selection of an architect for the new store of B. Altman & Co., which will be erected on Fifth av., between 34th and 35th sts. It is learned, however, from the office of the firm that sketches have been and are being prepared by a number of architects, which will be submitted to Mr. Altman, and from which he will make a selection in due time.

Further, it can be said that tenants in buildings now on the site have been notified to vacate by the first of next May, when it is understood the construction of the first section of what will be an immense structure will be begun.

The size of the building, there is reason to believe, will ultimately be far larger than has thus far been supposed. In a word, a circumstantial rumor in real estate circles is to the effect that the great department store will stretch from Fifth to Madison avs and cover the whole block between 34th and 35th sts. Most of this property is now understood to be owned or controlled by Mr. Altman.

In this connection it can be said that Mr. Altman is the real owner of the old Tabernacle property which is now for sale. From this it is judged that he either had chosen this block as the site for his new store, or else he wished to control the character of the business to be conducted on this corner, which is only a block from his new site. It is reported that Mr. Altman's representatives paid for this and an adjoining piece of property about $1,700,000, and now hold it at $2,500,000. The Tabernacle Society paid only $78,500 for the plot on which the church stands, and sold it in 1902 to Edward F. Searles for $1,300,000.

STORE WILL COVER THE WHOLE BLOCK.

LATER.—It can be stated more particularly that Mr. Altman's control over the block in question covers all but three pieces of property, namely: the northeast corner of Fifth av and 34th st, the northwest corner of Madison av and 34th st and one inside lot. It is the largest holding on Fifth av by any commercial house.

MR. ALTMAN ALSO GETS THE MARSHAL FIELD FRONTAGE.

The Record and Guide is informed that Marshal Field has leased to Mr. Altman for a long term of years the property he owns on the east side of Fifth av, between 30th and 31st sts. Mr. Field owns the Fifth av front between these streets and Nos. 4 to 10 East 31st st and 1 to 5 East 30th st.

Largest Contract of Recent Years.

THE THOMPSON-STARRETT COMPANY WILL BUILD THE SEARS-ROEBUCK BUILDINGS IN CHICAGO.

The largest building contract that has been given out in this country in recent years has just been awarded to the Thompson-Starrett Co., of 49 Wall st, this city. The contract is for the erection of the Sears-Roebuck Co.'s new buildings in Chicago, at a figure of $2,500,000. The architects of the buildings are Nimmons & Fellows, 1733 Marquette Building, Chicago, Ill. Work is to commence immediately.

The buildings will contain not only the usual arrangements for stores and offices on a large scale, but also a theater, library, clubhouse and dining hall, all of which will be devoted to the business purposes of the firm and its employees.

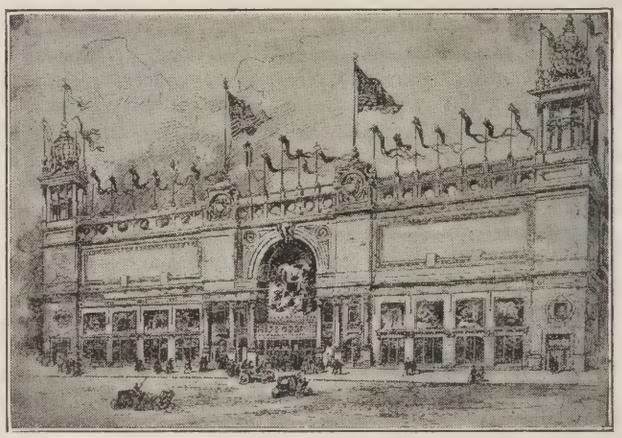
The Sears-Roebuck enterprise is to be situated on the north side of the Chicago Terminal Transfer Co.'s Tracks, extending from Kedzie av on the east to South Central Park av on the west and reaching north as far as Harvard st, 8 city squares being included in the site. The deal has been in charge of A. H. Loeb, secretary of Sears-Roebuck & Co., and the real estate firm of S. B. Mills & Co. In order to put the plan into effect it is necessary that the stub ends of a number of streets be vacated. Mr. Loeb says that the firm expects to move into its new quarters next July. They have been at the northeast corner of Fulton and Desplaines sts for several years.

The plans provide for a separate housing of the merchandise departments, the administration offices, the warehouses, for heavy merchandise, the power plant, the printing office and the clubhouse. The principal building of the group will be the merchandise building 441 feet long, 337 feet wide and eight stories high, with a basement and a court in the center 100 feet wide and 240 feet long. An ornamental feature of this building will be the water tower, 50 feet square and 200 feet high, in which will be stored tanks for the sprinkler system and the water supply system of the entire plant. The exterior of the building will be faced with vitrified brick, with trimmings of terra cotta and Bedford stone. The construction will be of the highest type of mill work. The court will be covered with a glass skylight. Spiral gravity conveyors will be used for taking goods from the upper floors to the shipping-room on the ground floor. The shipping-room floor, the floor space of the depot and the heavy freight-room will contain 360,000 square feet.

A combined depot for express and freight will be arranged so that goods will be placed directly in cars of the Chicago Terminal Transfer Co., the tracks of which will enter the building. In the rear of the merchandise building will be two additional buildings, each 700 feet long and 115 feet wide, designed to carry the heaviest articles of merchandise.

Next in importance of the buildings is the administration building. This will be 400 feet long and 150 feet wide, and absolutely fireproof. It will house a clerical force of 4,000, with provision for future extension. It will be at Harvard st and Homan av, the latter street crossing the property about in the center. It will be placed far enough back from the street to leave room for a grass plat in front of the building. The rear of the building will face a park which will contain a reservoir pool and landscape effects. The interior will be finished in hard woods, metal, tile and stucco, with vaults and counting-rooms. The exterior will be finished with vitrified brick and terra cotta trimmings.

The clubhouse for the employees will stand at the extreme eastern end of the property, facing Kedzie av, and surrounded with trees and lawns. The power plant will be housed in a building 200 feet long and 75 feet wide, it will be an up-to-date plant, in which the power will be generated by the new turbine steam engines.



The Thompson-Starrett Co. is doing work in all parts of the country. One of its large contracts now under way is the Rockefeller Building in Cleveland, which is expected to be ready for occupancy April 1st, 1905. On July 13th the steel frame was up one story and at present the building is enclosed.

Building the Hippodrome.

CONTRACTOR'S RAPID WORK.—NEIGHBORHOOD REAL ESTATE FEELS A STIMULUS.

The New York Hippodrome, which will be the largest playhouse in this or any other country, is rapidly approaching completion in Sixth avenue. It stretches the entire block between Forty-third and Forty-fourth streets, and approaches Fifth avenue in depth. The George A. Fuller Construction people are making what they declare will be a record in rapid, prudent building accomplishment, and although ground was not broken until early fall, and serious delays interrupted until the middle of November, they promise to have the immense structure ready for the reception of the public in January.

The United States Realty Company is the owner of the land and the New York Hippodrome Company, among whose directors are many of the best known men of affairs in the city, is erecting the building. It will be of brick, stone, steel and iron throughout, and the absolute guaranteed safety of patrons in any emergency will be a feature in which its managers, Messrs. Thompson and Dundy, take pride. Two performances will be given daily, and the placing of the best orchestra seats at the low price of one dollar has startled and provoked local theatrical managers, as they realize they are face to face with the most formidable rival in their history.

Hippodromes are a popular source of amusement abroad. London has one, with another in course of construction; Berlin supports two, generously; Paris' trio of structures are a feature of life there, and almost every continental city has an enclosed building devoted to the use of nomadic hippodrome companies. There are no traveling tented circuses abroad. They are as much an indoor entertainment as the drama.

The subject of a hippodrome in New York has been an engrossing topic of discussion among amusement purveyors here for more than a quarter of a century. The nearest approach to the character of entertainment which the New York Hippodrome will provide was given years ago in an elaborately fitted-up structure where is now the Herald Square Theater. Frank J. Melville and Robert Stickney, of families known for generations in the circus profession, conducted it. Mr. Melville will be equestrian director in the present big enterprise. Their venture was a passing success, but with its end came the passing of the American Hippodrome until Frederic W. Thompson and Elmer S.

Dundy took the field. They had made a fortune on the sands of Coney Island and along clean, moral, wholesome lines, while others stood by dumbfounded. They had experience and capital, and they accomplished in a few months what years of discussion preceding their arrival in New York City had failed to yield. Men whose business it is to know the theatrical pulse beat say they will have instant and enduring success.

BUILDING FEATURES.

The New York Hippodrome will seat 5,200 people, and is replete with mechanical and electrical innovations, most of which were born in the fertile mind of the senior partner. The dimensions are 240 feet deep by 200 feet on the avenue front, and 14 feet of clear space in the rear renders the building entirely independent. The walls rear themselves 110 feet on the east and 72 feet in front. Ticket offices will line the Sixth avenue entrances with facilities ample enough to circumvent the ticket speculators who haunt most popular playhouses.

Inside, the floors and wainscotted walls will be of marble, and the furnishings and ornamental plaster work will be a revelation in dignified beauty, the promotors say. A restaurant, conducted on Broadway lines, will have a place off the promenade. A zoologic display, composed of rare, costly and "educated" beasts for whom the world has been ransacked, will encircle the promenade. The animals will be confined in heavy plate glass enclosures with sanitary and ventilating precautions of the latest modern type. Underground passages will connect stage and cage, and costly tapestries will screen the menagerie when desired.

It is on the stage, in a great measure, that Mr. Thompson's wonderful genius for invention will manifest itself. Its entire method of manipulation and construction is original with him. An idea of its magnitude can be gained from the size of the back drop curtain, 172 by 80 feet. Similar curtains average 40 by 28 feet in other New York playhouses. An apron projects into that part of the house usually devoted to the orchestra pit. The circus ring performances and the aquatic manoevres will be presented on it. The water tanks will be 60 by 110 feet and 12 feet deep, and pumps of 4,000 gallons a minute capacity will install the supply. This immense reservoir will play an important part in hippodrome entertainments. It will be availed of for ocean, river, lake and brook, and will hide itself below the level of the stage proper when not in use.

The Hippodrome's massive scenery moves in and out of pockets from the sides of the auditorium, and not from a gridiron above, as is the custom in all other playhouses. Electric travelers, operated on the principle of electric cranes in machine shops, are employed. A clear panoramic view of ninety feet is afforded from stage level to sky-line. The stage itself is operated by hydraulic control, and that section of it, 50 by 100 feet, which the mechanism raises and lowers, acts with as graceful ease when loaded with men and properties as when empty. A series of traps are operated by counterweights.

The Hippodrome will not be an "indoor circus," as is the idea formed in many minds. There will be circus, of course, but with it musical comedy, dramatic, pantominic, spectacular, aquatic, vaudeville and specialty entertainment; and even the person who pays only twenty-five cents for a gallery seat will get a numbered couponed chair.

The effect of the Hippodrome's presence is already strikingly manifested in property values and rents in its neighborhood. There are few vacant buildings or rooms; the rest have been snatched upon at elevated prices and leases have been renewed at an increase. Store keepers for blocks near Sixth avenue and Forty-third street are looking forward confidently to a continuous period of prosperity and progress.

Attention is called to the additional reading matter which is to be found on the pages heretofore devoted exclusively to advertisements. This arrangement will be a feature of the Record and Guide hereafter. The Department for Questions and Answers will be found there this week.

Values In The Bronx.

A communication in the Record and Guide of last week concerning real estate values in the Bronx, and signed "E. P.," has called forth a remonstrance from Mr. J. S. Brown, of the Irving Realty Company's Bronx office, saying:

In spite of the enormous speculation of the last few months in vacant property in the Bronx the prices reached so far are from 25 to 50 per cent. below the actual intrinsic value of the land here, a fact well known to anybody at all conversant with values in this section.

Prices at present range from $2,000 to an average of about $5,000 per lot. The more expensive lots, situated on Prospect av, Boston road and surrounding Crotona and other parks, which may be said to equal the finest residence sections of Manhattan, do not average more than $8,000 or $9,000 per lot. The rentals obtained around here are a close second to those prevailing in Harlem, with the superior advantage of light, space and pure air.

Where, then, are the "abnormally high prices" that will scare the builder away? The largest percentage of buildings have been sold before completion and have frequently passed through a few hands, leaving a handsome margin of profit to the investor. Is there any valid reason why a lot on which a five-story apartment house that rents from $5 to $6 per room should not be worth, say, from $7,000 to $9,000? Under equal conditions the same site would be worth in Harlem from $15,000 to $20,000.

It is only people of the "E. P." class who overlooked the tremendous value of the rapid transit to the Bronx and the relief it brought to the overcrowded and congested condition of Manhattan. Let anyone who has any doubt on the subject examine the building statistics for this year, and the projected building plans for 1905, which speak more eloquently than any academic discussion on the subject.

JOSEPH. S. BROWN.

South Brooklyn Is Coming.

It will be a matter of interest to our readers to learn of the great improvement coming to South Brooklyn. The Pennsylvania Railroad, in consequence of its intention to invade the eastern part of the country, is making large purchases of land. Already two square blocks have been acquired for a freight terminal at 65th st, and purchases are being made along the south side of 61st st of property abutting on the old Manhattan Beach R. R. for the purpose of running a four-track road through the island and connecting with their great new bridge to Port Morris on the New York shore.

This is certainly a great factor in the building up of this South Brooklyn section and should have the effect of strongly advancing prices in the neighborhood. With the Bush docks at 40th st, the Morse Shipyards at 58th st and the Pennsylvania Railroad terminal at 65th st, there should be a great influx of people to the 30th Ward.

The bill introduced in Congress last week for the extension of the Fort Hamilton Reservation to 92d st, will, if passed, as it certainly will, wipe out a great many dwellings. These old-time residents must find new homes and there will be a movement in building that will provide employment for many people.

Work on the alterations and improvements to the U. S. Capitol in Washington is about to begin, the first bids invited being due Dec. 28th.

FIFTH AVENUE INVESTMENTS

A Lecture Before the Y. M. C. A. Class in Real Estate

By MINTURN POST COLLINS

MR. MINTURN POST COLLINS addressed the Real Estate Class of the Y. M. C. A. last Tuesday night on "Fifth Avenue Investments." The speaker said in part: The first point noted on studying the map of the city is the central position of Fifth Avenue; dividing the city as it does into the East and the West Sides—hence the appropriateness of its original name, the Middle Road. We will follow the course of this thoroughfare's development from Washington square to Ninetieth street, reviewing somewhat the conditions in the early part of the last century—farm land,—considering the later developments for residence and retail business purposes, and forecasting so far as possible the future of the property.

Previous to 1807 the city south of Fourteenth street had developed along irregular lines, and to prevent the same confusion in the newer portion, an act of the Assembly was passed on April 13, 1807, appointing three commissioners—Gouverneur Morris, Simeon De Witt and John Rutherford, who were instructed to prepare a plan for the further development of the city within four years. Accordingly the plan was outlined in 1811, though the survey was not finished until 1821. This plan was admirable and symmetrical, but took no account of the natural advantages and beauties of the island, and made little provision for public parks or other open spaces. It was, however, deemed necessary that a parade ground for military exercises be provided. This originally extended from Twenty-third to Thirty-fourth streets, between Third and Seventh avenues, and is now reduced to Madison Square. At Fifth avenue and Forty-second street space was reserved for a reservoir in anticipation of an increased demand for water supply, and from Fifty-ninth to One Hundred and Tenth streets land was left on the west side of Fifth avenue for Central Park.

In 1824 Washington Square was a center of fashionable life, which moved slowly up Fifth avenue, gradually displacing the country places and farms to the northward. Among these latter the largest and most interesting belonged to Robert Lenox, a Scotch merchant, who arrived in New York in 1784, and acquired great wealth during a long and honorable life. In 1822 he purchased at foreclosure for less than $7,000 a farm of many acres at the fifth milestone from the City Hall, now Seventy-first street, on the old Boston Road, extending from Fifth avenue eastward to Park avenue and from Sixty-eighth street to Seventy-fourth street.

When Mr. Lenox made his will in 1829 he bequeathed the property described therein as "my farm at the 5-mile stone" to his only son, James Lenox, for life and after his death to his heirs. "My motive for so leaving this property," he declared, "is a firm persuasion that it may at no distant day be the site of a village; and as it cost me more than its present worth, from circumstances known to my family, I like to cherish the belief that it may be realized to them. At all events I want the experiment made by keeping the property from being sold."

At the time Robert Lenox made his will the East River shore for many blocks north of Sixty-eighth street was covered by a forest known as Jones's Wood, and Mr. Lenox's friends marvelled that so shrewd a man could indulge in such a fanciful dream as that "at no distant day his farm would be the site of a village."

Mr. Lenox some time later modified his will and bequeathed the farm without reserve to his son, but strongly urged him not to sell the whole or any part of it. This son, James Lenox, inherited his father's properties in 1840. He increased this inherited fortune by his own industry, good management and methods. He not only worked ten hours a day himself, but made his property work twenty-four, accumulating by good investments greater and greater wealth. A lover of the fine arts and a philanthropist, he founded the Lenox Library and gave the land for the Presbyterian Hospital. Concerning the farm, he followed his father's advice until 1864, when it was the most valuable and largest parcel of land held by one person within the city limits. It was surrounded by a rapidly growing city and during this year he sold off building lots to the extent of $6,000,000, reserving the best lots for the library and hospital.

IN THE MIDDLE OF THE LAST CENTURY.

Between Lenox Hill and Washington Square, Fifth avenue in the middle of the last century ran past farms and country villas such as the Murray property on the east at Murray Hill and the Waddell villa. This latter property occupied the block front between Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth streets on the west side of the avenue. The large gothic mansion was surrounded by beautiful grounds, on what was then a bluff terraced down to the avenue. Here the owners entertained the fashionable society which had settled more thickly in the neighborhood of the Square and lower on the avenue.

On the northwest corner of Fifth avenue, at Twenty-third street, where the Fifth Avenue Hotel now stands, was a wayside tavern, kept by one Corporal Thompson. In 1850 and 1855 it was the principal building in the neighborhood and at the time of the cholera epidemic its sign advertising "K. K. K.," Corporal's Cholera Cure, attracted attention. The Fifth Avenue Hotel, built on this site, is one of the first buildings to have an elevator. The mechanism was similar to a nut revolving on a huge screw, whose revolution sent it slowly up or down. As an example of the valuation of property at this time in the fashionable neighborhood of Washington Square, we may take the sale of the large Brevoort mansion on the corner of Ninth street and Fifth avenue, on a plot of ground 92 ft. on Fifth avenue and 126 ft. on Ninth street, equaling about five lots, in Jan., 1850, for $57,000.

It is interesting to compare this Brevoort mansion—an example of the best residences of that day—with the modern developments of the avenue such as the four Vanderbilt houses, Mr. Huntington's, Mr. Gerry's, Mr. Whitney's, Mr. Yerkes's, Senator Clark's, Henry Phipps's and Andrew Carnegie's.

A few years later we learn from Valentine's Diary the estimated value of the city parks on or near Fifth avenue: Washington Square, $816,000; Union Park (now Union Square), $504,000; Madison Square, $520,000; Triangular Park (bounded by Fifth avenue and Broadway and Twenty-fifth street), $10,000; Reservoir Square (Fifth avenue and 42d street), $150,000; Hamilton Square (Yorkville, Fifth avenue to Third avenue, Sixty-sixth to Sixty-eighth street), $97,000; Central Park (Fifth to Eighth avenue, Fifty-ninth to One Hundred and Sixth street), $5,111,526.

SPECIMEN VALUES.

Mr. Collins then gave a list of prices paid for Fifth avenue properties in the 60's, a portion of which follows:

Fifth avenue, n. e. cor. 58th st., 100.5x125, $90,000. May 1, 1868.

Fifth avenue, w s., 50.5 n. 56th st., 25x100, $24,000. May 1, 1868.

Fifth avenue, e. s., 40 s. 37th st., 28x100, $3,000; plot 62.9x100 adjoining above on south, $61,000. May 7, 1868.

Hoagland, whose estate sold it in June, 1901, to the New York Realty Corporation for $325,000. The latter sold in April, 1902, for $420,000 to Boehm & Coon, who erected a five-story building, which was leased for ten years at a graduating rental of $22,000 to $24,000. Boehm & Coon sold the improved property last month to Mr. Lewisohn for about $600,000. Mr. Collins estimated the value of the ground, 100x100, to-day, at between $1,100,000 and $1,200,000.

Mr. Barney resold for $550,000 to New York Realty Corporation. A five-story building was erected by the lessee, Siebrecht, and the property was sold to Hoffman Brothers in May last for over $700,000.

Fifth avenue, s. e. cor. 37th st., 158.9x152x irregular, bought by George C. Boldt for about $1,224,000 in 1901 and sold to Tiffany & Co. for over $2,000,000 in 1903.

Knox, who erected a ten-story building, and who it is said recently refused an offer of $1,500,000 for the property.

The class will not meet again until Jan. 3, when Mr. Walter Stabler will speak on the growth of the West Side.

EFFECT ON MANHATTAN LOTS

of the Boom in the Bronx and on Washington Heights

SOME West Side brokers are of the opinion that, instead of causing in anywise a detraction of public favor from the building opportunities in that region, the "boom" on the Heights and in the Bronx will reflect very much to the betterment of property there. This we find to be the prevailing opinion, yet there are some variations of views not without interest. Some authorities hold that if the great movements indicated should bring certain owners to a realization of the true market value of their plots, or, at least, make them more willing to either improve or release them, it would be a good thing. Builders dislike inactivity and some have gone to the Bronx in order to keep busy.

Another phase of the question is the steadily decreasing number of vacant lots in "Old New York"—or, let us say, south of 125th st. The time is clearly approaching when there will be no vacant land remaining. South of Central Park there is practically none, and north of it building sites are disappearing at such a rate that a prominent builder recently predicted that in fifteen years it will all be under cover. A comparison of the vacant lots for the years 1890, 1902 and 1904 for the district east of Central Park, for example, will show how fast they are being built upon. In 1890 there were between Fifth av, 59th st, Avenue B and 125th st, 2,644 vacant avenue lots; in 1902, 1,330; and this year, according to reports of the Building Department, there are only about 700.

The following percentages, taken in 1902 by the Record and Guide, showed the portion of space vacant in various important West Side avenues: Central Park West, 31 per cent.; Columbus av, 7 per cent.; Amsterdam av, 17 per cent.; Broadway, 44 per cent.; West End av, 27 per cent.; Riverside Drive, 43 per cent. Roughly estimating, about one-half of this has since been built upon.

It must, therefore, be admitted that precedent and experience sustain owners in high expectations for the future, with some room left, however, for variation in calculations as to how near the future may be in any individual case. We have heard of owners who mean never to sell, but, nevertheless, add on to their public holding-price a few more thousands each time there is a fresh impetus in the neighborhood.

Mr. W. H. Peckham, of the Frank L. Fisher Co., 440 Columbus av, was also found to be of the opinion that the Bronx and Washington Heights movements will reflect very much to the betterment of the upper West Side.

"The lots on the upper West Side," said he, "are held firmly and at good prices. The improvements of the Bronx and Washington Heights will not be such that they will attract high-class tenants or high-class private house buyers from this section. There are very few lots left on the upper West Side on which private houses can be built and the majority of the unrestricted lots are of such a character that they will require very high-class improvements.

"There is a large demand for flats and tenements among the speculators. Rents are no cheaper. We think there will be a number of tenants, who are looking for moderate rents, that will go to the Bronx and Washington Heights, but with the growing popularity of the West Side and the drawing from the lower part of the city there will be no cause for worry, but that all the lower-priced apartments on the West Side can be filled at the same rentals as this year. There is a constant demand for more new apartments on the West Side at a range of prices from $1,000 to $1,800.

"The small investor will, of course, purchase property in the Bronx and Washington Heights, but the large investor, we think, will stick to the upper West Side.

"We also think that the private houses purchased now on the West Side will show good returns from the investment and will increase in value."

Mr. J. Hamilton Hunt, of Broadway, was found to be of the opinion that the natural increase of Manhattan in population and wealth would over-top and more than recompense for the migration of any possible total in capital and personal numbers from the West Side to Fort Washington or the Bronx or to any other section. The Bronx should not be considered a rival of the upper West Side. Fort Washington presented a more formidable proposition which might possibly have a moderating effect upon this and other preferred sections were New York like any other city, or were it not the wonderful metropolis it is.

"If we had six times the number of apartments they could be rented" he said. "At the first good opportunity many well-to-do people now residing in New Jersey will move in."

To Mr. Hunt's mind, the tidal wave of wealth and population that seems ever sweeping over New York overcomes all contrary tides. In illustration he told a story.

One day, about fifteen years ago, an elderly gentleman placed on his books to be sold a certain Broadway corner north of 75th st. It fronts 100 feet on Broadway and has a depth of 102 feet. The owner had carried it a long time, and as he was getting old he wished to be rid of it. He was willing to take $50,000, at which price Mr. Hunt offered it to a number of persons without finding a buyer. He laid the proposition before his old partner, F. R. Houghton, and gave him three days to decide, offering to go in with him on it, but Mr. Houghton declined. Mr. Hunt personally believed it was a rare opportunity. The plot was encumbered by some old buildings, but the rent from these could be increased to an amount that would pay the annual interest and taxes, and in a few years the market value of the plot would be greatly increased. But none of his friends would see it that way, until one day the broker saw passing on the other side of the street a certain old acquaintance.

"Hey, Tom, I want to see you!" he called.

"I'm in a hurry; can stop only a minute," answered the other.

"You will be in a hurry to take what I have for you."

"I don't believe I want it, but let me have until two o'clock and I'll let you know," said Tom, when he heard the offer. At two o'clock the broker called him up.

"I can get you the full amount of the purchase price on mortgage," he said.

"How much cash do you want?"

"Only a thousand from you."

"Well, I'll tell you what," came back in Tom's voice, "I wouldn't buy on my own judgment, but if it is your advice, I will take it."

Four years afterward Mr. Hunt carried to Tom an offer of $135,000, and it was refused. Not long ago the broker took him a larger offer, of $150,000, and this was the answer he got:

"See here; I don't want to sell. That property has not cost me a 5-cent piece. In the first place, I got a loan on it for the full amount of the purchase price. Then the shanties have brought in enough for rent to pay the taxes, and I have borrowed $25,000 more on mortgage to put in my business. A few years from now the property will be worth $200,000, so why should I sell?"

—Many of the New York architects' reception offices are veritable art galleries with plaster casts, bits of ornamental wrought iron and bronze work, water-color perspectives, old prints or engravings of classic ruins, and small sketches in pencil, ink or color, or art objects picked up in Bohemian rambles, reminders of student days. In one of the down-town offices, that of an architect who devotes his talent and energy to church designing, is a most interesting collection of small reproductions of pen-and-ink perspectives of the churches he has built. None is more than 4x6 inches in size, all framed alike, and the collection fills one panel of the wall space. No two buildings are alike, though all are similar and in a modern adaptation of the Gothic style of architecture. They are all stone structures with square corner towers and steep pitched roofs, and show what may be done toward securing varying artistic effects with comparatively simple elements. On other sides of the little room hang larger views and some elaborate water-color drawings of other buildings, but the collection of small prints, some twenty in number, is the most interesting and repays careful study.

PRIVATE SALES MARKET

The announcement of Mr. Altman's leasing of Marshal Field's holdings in the block between Thirtieth and Thirty-first streets, and the fact that he controls practically the entire square block between Fifth and Madison avenues and Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth streets, is the leading item of a very fair week's business. While the number of sales reported continue to show a falling off, the business done or being made public is certainly becoming of more interest every week. There have been closed, in addition to the foregoing, two very interesting sales on Fifth avenue opposite the park and a Sixth avenue deal of seven figures. The total number of sales reported for Manhattan and The Bronx is two hundred and eight, one hundred and forty-eight being in Manhattan, with flats and tenements in an apparently increasing demand over the past two months.

James Henry Smith Sells.

5TH AV.—James Henry Smith has sold the plot, 50x130 feet, at the northeast corner of 5th av and 52d st. The buyer, a client of John N. Golding, is said to be a man prominent in financial circles, who will erect two houses on the site, one for himself and the other for a friend. The property is part of the former site of the Langham Hotel and was bought by Mr. Smith about two years ago as the site for a magnificent residence. Soon after the death of William C. Whitney, however, Mr. Smith bought the Whitney mansion, at 5th av and 68th st, and since that time the 52d st corner has been for sale. What the price in the present transaction was has not been made known. Mr. Smith is understood to have paid about $750,000 for the plot. TALE OF COOGAN'S GULCH

By Charles Griffith Moses

WHEN the elevated railroad was completed in 1880, and one could travel in comfort to 155th st, the country around this terminal was as wild and undeveloped as when the painted savage hunted through its woods and fished its streams. From 8th avenue to St. Nicholas avenue there is a difference in grade of 120 feet, and to reach the latter one had to pick one's way through swamp and forest—truly primeval. After much solicitation, countless mass meetings, prayers, entreaties, and petitions, the Elevated Railroad Co. was induced to build an elevated wooden structure from its terminal, westward, ending in a flight of steps at St. Nicholas place. This left much to be desired, but was a godsend to the pioneers on the hill. As the population kept increasing the demand for something better than this makeshift bridge (as it was called) grew stronger, and public meetings were called and plans were submitted to the Department of Public Works for the present structure. No heed was paid by the city authorities to the demands of the people of the Heights, and finally half a dozen public-spirited citizens got together at the Monica Villa, the old Bradhurst mansion, occupied as a tavern of that name, and organized the Washington Heights Taxpayers' Association.

They held regular meetings, organized mass meetings, obtained signatures to petitions, all without much avail. Matters seemed to be going from bad to worse when a rumor was started (I think this was in 1886) that James J. Coogan, who represented the Lynch estate, owning the land north of 155th street from the Harlem river west to the base of the bluff, and in front of whose land the bridge had been erected, was going to have the same pulled down. Great was the excitement on the Heights. A meeting of the taxpayers was called; burning oratory and frenzied invective were hurled at Mr. Coogan's name. During the height of the excitement a step was heard on the stairs (the meeting was held in the old Washington Heights Library, occupying the second floor of the old frame building at 156th street and Amsterdam avenue, now used as a telephone exchange), and in walked James J. Coogan himself. He pushed to the front and every one listened carefully to what he had to say. He assured the people that the rumor was false, that while he had opposed the building of the bridge and was still opposing the erection of the viaduct, he certainly would do nothing to cause the then present bridge to be destroyed.

The people were satisfied at his words, many of the speakers apologized to Coogan for the hard things they had said and written for the press, and the meeting broke up with everybody in good spirits. The next morning when the people of the Heights started for the elevated railroad to go downtown, much to their surprise, amazement and indignation, the bridge had disappeared. Even while Coogan was holding forth the olive branch of peace at the taxpayers' meeting, his workmen were sawing through the heavy timbers supporting the bridge, and at some time during the night or early morning the old bridge was destroyed and had passed into history. The gap, yawning and barren (Coogan had also cut down the fine big trees in the woods to the north), has always been known since then as "Coogan's" Gulch.

But the Taxpayers' Association did not sit by supinely and waste much time in mourning. They got together with a vim and snap and started a new method of campaigning in addition to their public meetings, speeches and petitions. At every meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, at every public gathering and hearing in the Mayor's office, a committee of five or ten or twenty-five or even a hundred put in an appearance and demanded to be heard. Finally the Mayor grew weary with much importuning and sent the Commissioner of Public Works, Mr. Thos. F. Gilroy, to investigate. Mr. Gilroy met a committee from the association at 7.30 o'clock one morning on the ground, looked over the scene of desolation, and like the prompt and efficient and business-like public official that he was, immediately saw the need of the viaduct and lent his efforts in his public and official capacity towards its adoption and construction. About five years later the viaduct was completed, and peace spread her wings over the active fighters of the Taxpayers' Association. I go into this matter in detail merely to show the uphill fight for all improvements on the Heights, of which this is a fair type.

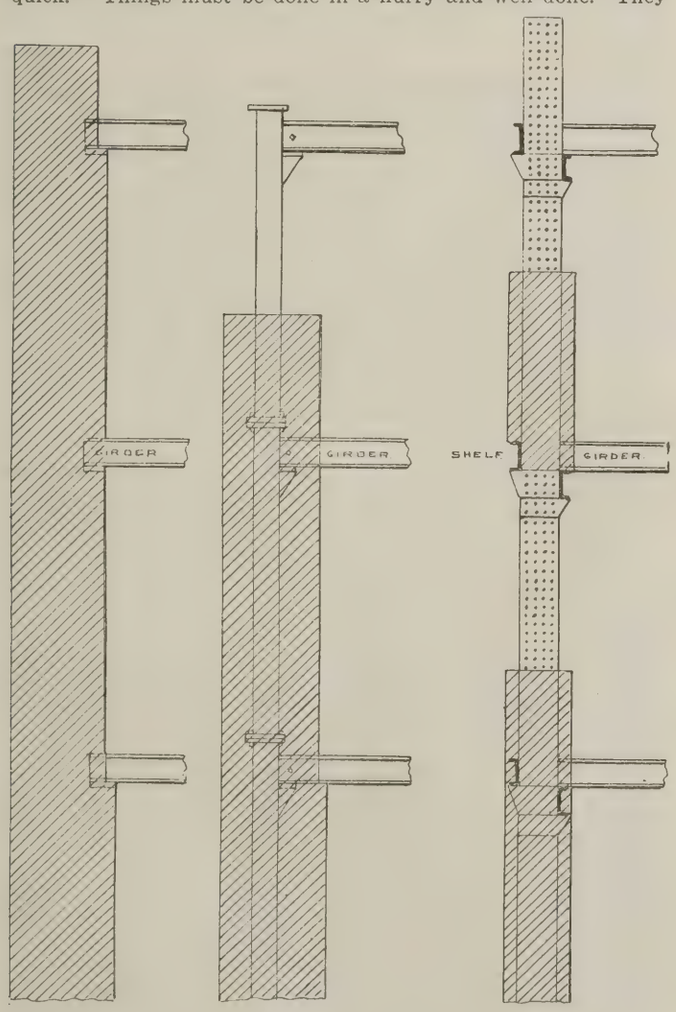
THE REALM OF BUILDING



Metal Supporting Masonry.

DID THE BUFFINGTON PATENT MAKE THE STEEL SKELETON BUILDING POSSIBLE?

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

When man in his early progress sought something more substantial than wood, he devised masonry, first of stone in a very primitive manner. Then gradually he learned the art of burning brick. The first step was from stone to brick, then stone facing with brick backing. The beautiful and graceful forms that have come down to us through the past generations to the present day, show us the imposing temples and tombs of the past, and masonry piles throughout the inhabitable part of the globe that have withstood the test of time. Many required centuries for their building. Some even now have been so long building that parts are in a state of decay, while other parts of the same building are as if fresh from the workman's hand.

But to-day it is not the enduring that is wanted. Whole cities are built in half the allotted time of man. A building now is used only for a few years, when it is removed and another, larger and more pretentious, takes its place. The needs of man are many, he needs much, not little here below, but that much "quick." Things must be done in a hurry and well done. They must be strong and light. They must be beautiful but cheap. With the end of the nineteenth century the construction in masonry has reached its highest goal, and metal steps in and takes the burden.

THREE STAGES IN IRON CONSTRUCTION.

In one form or another the utensils and implements of the bronze age have been supplanted by iron. Whenever man has wished for something with both strength and lightness, iron has been his servant, dating from the first usage of iron in the making of arrow heads, spears, knives, etc., to the development of the plates and beams for the great architecture undertakings of to-day. We come to the skeleton of steel construction.

The usage of metal in building may be considered in three stages or steps. First, iron girders supported by masonry walls. Second, iron girders supported partially by iron columns with masonry walls built around them. Third, the braced skeleton of metal supporting the masonry on shelves fastened to the columns. In both the first and second stages of iron usage the masonry supports the iron, but in the third stage the iron has reversed the construction and has taken the masonry on its back.

The masonry in the first stage must be good; but the masonry in the second stage must be of the very best; select brick laid in cement, each brick firmly and evenly bedded. For the walls must go in many cases much higher, and the introduction of the cast-iron column is for the purpose of reducing the brickwork to the minimum of thickness. Brickwork of this kind was made to carry nearly double, and yet with all the care, very little was gained over the first stage.

In the third stage all of the striving for the strongest masonry has been done away with, for the steel does it all in the easiest manner. The masonry now is only one story high, for each story is built above the other and supported independently on shelves. Thus the thickness of the wall for a twenty-story building needs to be only as thick as a one-story building erected in the ordinary way.

But how does this all come about? The illustration here shown (No. 3) is a section taken from Architect L. S. Buffington's patent, and is a wonderful departure from the other two. It is claimed that the skeletons of steel-constructed buildings throughout the country are being built on this principle.

The difference between "cage," or the second stage, as here illustrated, and "skeleton" construction should be kept in mind. What is understood as "cage" construction is a framework of iron and steel columns which carry the floors only, and do not carry the outer walls. In the "skeleton" construction the outer walls are in panels, acting as curtain walls, sustaining nothing, and being carried each panel on a shelf. In the "cage" construction the outer walls are independent walls, from the foundation to the top, and are therefore less in thickness than if they had to bear the floors.

The World building, erected in 1890, is an example of the "cage" construction, and the first high buildings erected in Chicago, as all architects know, were of the "old" form of construction. The ten-story Home Insurance building in Chicago, erected in 1884, by Jenny, was built by the old method, upon which Mr. Buffington makes no claims. Two additional stories were added in the early nineties of skeleton construction. This building is illustrated and described in an article by the architect in the Sanitary Engineer of New York, on page 32, Vol. XIII., of December 10, 1885, and will pay perusal for comparison.

It has been customary to say that "great as the apparent novelty of skeleton construction, it lacks the dramatic feature of birth from an inventive brain. Like the cage construction, it may be said to have been incubated, rather than invented." But the bringing of an action at law against the owners of a Wall street skyscraper in course of erection, based on the allegation that it infringes upon a patent granted in 1888 for the "skeleton" form of construction, advises us that we must revise history in this respect.

The new building, to be called the "Stuyvesant," will be similar in design, construction and character to the "Knickerbocker," now under way at 16th st and Fifth av for Mr. Rothschild from plans by the same architect. The 1st story and basement will be used for store purposes, the second to eleventh, inclusive, for lofts and offices, and the four upper stories for offices. There will be three passenger and two freight elevators and a refuse chute with an opening on each floor will end in a crematory in the basement. There will be steam heat, electric light, wire glass, etc. The owner will take possession February 1st, 1905, when the work of demolishing will begin. The site is now occupied by two 4-sty brick dwellings, No. 98, the corner structure being used as a piano warerooms and store; No. 100 is the home of Mrs. Frederick Neilson.

The Wendel Estate to Build.

BROADWAY.—The Wendel estate, of 175 Broadway, will build a 50-ft. high garage on a plot, 103x98x105x106, on the northwest corner of Broadway and 50th st, from plans by H. C. Hollwedel, of 23 Union sq. The site, composed chiefly of rock, is being excavated by the Naughton Co., contractors, of 258 Broadway, and the architect is now taking estimates for the foundation walls. The foundations will extend 22 feet below the curb line at their lowest point, the average depth being 15 feet. There will be one cellar. The superstructure will have two stories and will be so planned that a mezzanine floor may be added in each. The exterior will be entirely of limestone with large copper framed plate glass windows. The roof will be flat. There will be but four supporting columns, leaving an almost unobstructed floor space, and the girders will have spans of about 33 feet. The structural frame will be so planned that eventually two more stories may be added. On the main floor there will be turn-tables and a repair pit similar to those in use in car barns. The building will be wired for electric lights, and will have gas piping and plumbing. It is estimated to cost $125,000. Working drawings will be ready for figures in three or four weeks' time. There is a station of the subway on this corner, and the location is in the center of the carriage and automobile trade, the Vehicle Equipment Co. being on the lower corner and "Studebaker" on the block below. The proposed building has not yet been leased.

This Expert has no Hesitation in saying that the Ideal Material for Fire-proofing has been found.

He says it is

BUILDING NOTES

The Buckley Realty Construction Co., general contractors and builders, have opened three large offices in the new Times Building in Times sq.

Bridge Commissioner Best has abolished the position of principal assistant engineer in his department. Mr. H. A. La Chicotte held the position under civil service rules and his name is consequently first on the list of eligibles in case the position is again established.

Henry B. Slaven died at his home, 119 West 72d st, New York, on Dec. 2. He was a member of the expedition which located the Canadian Pacific Ry. through Manitoba, and later became president of the American Dredging & Construction Co., which had the contract with the old French company for building the Atlantic end of the Panama Canal.

The Eljer Company, of 81 Fulton st, New York, is manufacturing the Eljer Flushing Valve, along with other plumbing specialties. This valve is said to be a radical change in principle from anything heretofore placed on the market in this line, being constructed without pistons, cup leathers, or any other part where friction, caused by corrosion, sand, or grit would prevent the valve from working smoothly and uniformly. It is opened by means of a lever and closed by the weight of the same lever. In this way the valve is opened and closed independently of the water pressure and the valve does not in any way detract from the flow of water supplied by the pipes, as it would did the water pressure have to do the work of raising a piston. For this reason the valve will work on any pressure. There are no springs used in its construction in any way. One hundred and thirty of these valves have recently been installed in the Flood Building in San Francisco, which is the largest and most handsome office building on the Pacific Coast.

Messrs. D. C. Weeks & Son, 289 4th av, have among their contracts under way the Port Morris central power station for the New York terminal of the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad. The work has been designed by and is being executed under the direction of the engineering department of the N. Y. C. & H. R. R.; W. J. Wilgus, 5th vice-president and chairman of the company's electric traction commission; H. Fernstrom, chief engineer; Edwin B. Katte, electrical engineer; and Olaf Hoff, engineer of structures. It is expected that the foundations will be ready to receive the superstructure by Jan. 1st, 1905. The principal quantities involved in the foundations are: 42,000 yds. of earth excavation; 6,500 yds. of rock excavation; 34,000 yds. of back fill; 5,000 sq. yds. of waterproofing; 18,000 cu. yds. of concrete; and 4,000 ft. of electric ducts. There will be two chimneys constructed of Custodis radial brick, carried directly over the boilers on steel piers. Each chimney will weigh about 1,400 tons, will be 24 ft. in external diameter at the base, and will rise 250 ft. above the steel girder platforms on which they are supported.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a . G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before 2d figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

December 16, 17, 19, 20, 21, 22.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The Growth of The Record and Guide and the Resulting Changes.

WE spoke last week in these columns of the growth of the Record and Guide and the necessity which that growth has thrust upon the management of the paper to provide some plan whereby the vastly larger mass of legal records can be handled mechanically and otherwise with the least increase of financial pressure upon our readers. It must be perfectly clear to every one of our subscribers that it is commercially out of the question for the Record and Guide to go on augmenting in bulk year by year, accompanied by the printing of thousands of additional legal papers annually, without increasing in some manner or form the cost of its service to its readers. A real estate agent, who should undertake to manage a certain estate for a fixed sum of money, could not permit the owner to go on indefinitely enlarging that estate, thereby increasing the agent's labors and expenses, without demanding increased compensation. A builder, who should contract to erect a ten-story building for a fixed amount, could not permit the owner to add story upon story without demanding an increased cost. The Record and Guide, however, has been in the position of this hypothetical real estate agent and builder for many years past. It has steadily increased the size of its issues while rigorously maintaining the quality of its service. It has, without any stint of money, enlarged its mechanical establishment so as to deliver copies to its readers as early as possible on Saturday mornings, and in this effort it has increased its force and its expenses very nearly four-fold, until to-day the Record and Guide is the most costly trade-paper of any kind whatsoever, and prints nearly five pages of reading matter for each page of advertising.

As we pointed out last week, this is the result of special conditions peculiar to the real estate field. The Record and Guide is loyally supported by the interests it serves. It possesses one of the largest circulations of any trade-paper extant, and a circulation that, locally considered, is in its concentration and completeness, quite unique. "Printers' Ink" accords to the Record and Guide the "double bull's-eye rating" for "extraordinary excellence of circulation." The Record and Guide undoubtedly occupies its field, but attached to this field are peculiar circumstances—circumstances that compel the continued printing of more and more reading-matter without any possibility of restriction or curtailment, unless, of course, the value of the paper's service were at the same time to be impaired. The latter is out of the question. It only remains that the situation should be fairly met by all concerned—by the Record and Guide itself on its part, by its subscribers on their part. No one can sell an article below cost or at an unfair commercial price without disadvantage all around. After carefully considering the situation, it has seemed to the management of the Record and Guide that the most desirable way out of the existing difficulty is to separate the matter that now appears in the paper into two parts. Nothing, it would seem, can be lost were all the matter that pertains to Manhattan and the Bronx printed in one paper or edition, and were all the matter that pertains to Brooklyn be printed in another paper or edition, and then the two be charged for separately and at a fair price.

Our readers must have noticed the improvements that have recently been made in our paper, and these improvements are only the initial steps of a well-defined progressive policy. Next week and thereafter, the Record and Guide will be issued as two papers:

1. The Record and Guide—Manhattan and the Bronx edition;
2. The Record and Guide—Brooklyn edition.

The former will be supplied to readers and subscribers, as at present, for $6.00 a year, or 15 cents per copy. The latter will be sold for $3.50 a year, or 10 cents per copy. Those who desire both papers will be supplied for $8.00 a year.

Working on the supposition that all subscribers who receive the Record and Guide to-day at an address in Manhattan or the Bronx, are interested solely in information pertaining to those two boroughs, the Manhattan and the Bronx edition alone will hereafter be sent to those who dwell in Manhattan and the Bronx; and on a like supposition, the Brooklyn edition alone will be sent to those who dwell in the big borough beyond the East River. Any subscriber, however, whose paid subscriptiion is still current, may by dropping us a postal card stating his desire, obtain both editions without any extra charge whatsoever during the life of his existing subscription. Of course, at the end of the subscription, it will be open to him to elect which edition he needs, paying for one or the other, or both as the circumstances may be.

In conclusion, the Record and Guide would like to assure its old friends that this new step has been taken only after the greatest patience and with the utmost care for every interest concerned. It is most emphatically not a one-sided move. Moreover, it is not a solitary move, but one that has been fully prepared for by the management, and by the careful adoption of a wider policy that will surely give our readers, when it is completely worked out, a very much superior service both in Manhattan and the Bronx, and in Brooklyn.

THE stock market has been showing marked strength as a result of what appears to be a very excellent class of buying; and in spite of the fact that prices are undoubtedly very high—practically as high as those of the spring of 1902—the reasons for this marked strength are not far to seek. The impression is spreading that stocks are becoming intrinsically more valuable than they were two years ago. The best industrial stocks are more valuable, because the big industrial corporations have pulled through a period of very bad business, and because they will be in a position now to use their surplus earnings—after paying their preferred stock dividends—in strengthening their supplies of working capital. In this way they very much increase the chance of maintaining the dividends on the preferred, while at the same time they are adopting the only policy which can in the long run give substantial value to the common stock. The good railroad stocks are also believed to be more valuable, because they are showing an increased earning power. There is talk of increased dividends on a number of important stocks, and the resumption of dividends on others, and this talk is in some measure justified by actual events. In fact the railroad companies, such as the Pennsylvania and the New York Central, which are large holders of the stocks of other companies, are likely to be very much benefited by the prospective increased rates of dividend distribution. All this makes for investment buying and suggests that a permanently higher level of values may be effected by the events of the next year.

THE only comment there is to make upon the real estate market of the past week is that it has been possessed by a seasonable dullness. Whatever movement has been shown has been in the same direction as that which has been conspicuous during the past month. Property in and near the financial center is in demand for the construction of office buildings and 5th Ave. property or lots in that vicinity are also in demand both for new residences and for the retail trade. The lot speculation is becoming smaller and smaller, and the most recent purchasers are doubtless beginning to consider seriously what they propose to do with their acquisitions. So far as Washington Heights goes it is very desirable that some evidence should be given of an intention on the part of some of the purchasers to build a higher class of improvement. The average building of the West Side was much improved because of the fact that a rich estate was not afraid to start with such an apartment house as the Dakota, and what Washington Heights needs is the erection of an apartment house in a good neighborhood of a similarly high class. Otherwise the district will at the present rate soon be over-run with five-story flats and tenements.

The Mortgage Market in 1904-5.

THE first necessity of an active real estate and building market is an abundance of compartively cheap money. Real estate and building operations are conducted as much upon credit as are ordinary commercial transactions, and if for any reason it is difficult and expensive to borrow upon real estate security, the speculative exploitation of real estate and building opportunities, which constitutes such a large fraction of all the real estate transactions, suffers from a severe blight. During the early months of 1904, it was more than usually difficult to borrow money on good real estate security, and it was particularly difficult to borrow it except at a high rate of interest. Owing to certain general conditions which it is unnecessary to describe at the present time, the savings banks made an attempt to raise the rate of interest on gilt-edged loans from 4 to 4½%. At the same time, the life insurance companies practically retired from the mortgage market; and the trust companies were disinclined to lock up their free money in such investments. The consequence was that during the first three months of 1904, the records show that only about $29,500,000 were loaned upon real estate by the several kinds of financial institutions, while during the corresponding period of 1903 borrowers had derived some $45,000,000 from the same sources. That mortgages were more expensive may be judged from the fact that while less than $30,000,000 worth of mortgages bearing interest at less than 5% were recorded during the first quarter of 1904, during the corresponding quarter of 1903, mortgages aggregating more than $47,000,000, carrying an interest charge of less than 5%, were registered at the county offices.

The adverse conditions did not, however, last very long. The savings banks adhered to their higher rate for the first few months, but they did not succeed in loaning much money on these terms, and they were gradually obliged to abandon them. In the meantime, the accumulation of unemployed money proceeded rapidly. The life insurance companies changed their attitude towards mortgages, and instead of avoiding them began actively to seek them. When the fall came, the conditions with which the year started, were completely reversed. Although the old rates were not entirely restored, and although 4% money was more difficult to get than it was three years before, money has been loaned very liberally. Indeed, the activity in the real estate market, which has increased the number of Manhattan transactions by one-half, and the number of Bronx and Brooklyn transactions almost by 100% could never have taken place without the ready absorption of mortgages. The Title Guarantee and Trust Company alone has loaned over $55,000,000 on mortgages, which is $15,000,000 more than in any previous year in the history of the company. These large sums of money were required because of the dearth of house-room in Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx, and because extraordinary measures had to be taken in order to remedy the deficiency.

This brings us to the existing situation and to the prospects for the new year. At present, there is still an abundance of capital seeking investment in real estate, and there is every reason to suppose that large sums of money will be needed to finance the real estate operations of 1905. The dearth of house-room has not yet been removed and large numbers of tenements, flats and small dwellings will have to be built. At the same time, the improved conditions of general business will encourage a comparatively large amount of high-class building—unless labor difficulties forbid. Borrowers who can offer good security, will not have any difficulty in obtaining all the money they need, and if any check is placed upon the current activity by money-lending institutions, it will only be because the security offered is not as good as it should be. There is some danger that such will be the case. The president of one of the larger financial institutions in New York, and one which in its operations is most closely connected with the real estate market has stated his conviction that the operators who are now trading so actively in the Bronx and in upper Manhattan property are going too fast in raising the values of unimproved real estate. Money-lending institutions will, in his opinion, be slow to advance into these new districts, and accept the prices which the current excitement is producing, as the values which a conservative lender requires.

The Record and Guide states this opinion for what it is worth. It is not the outcome of any desire to discourage improvements in the Bronx, or to cast any reflections on the substantial basis of much of the current speculation. It is simply offered as a warning against a possible excess, which might bring disaster upon all concerned and retard instead of accelerate the development of the Bronx. The mortgage market is too completely organized at the present time and is too much controlled by conservative influences to lend its assistance to any extravagantly speculative movement. The title guarantee companies and their allies, the bond and mortgage guarantee companies, dominate the lending of money on real estate. They mediate between the investor and the real estate owner and collect from the former vast sums of money each year, which are converted by the owners of real estate into new buildings. The facilities and protection which these companies furnish help to attract this money to real estate, and if the companies were not conservative in lending it, the result would not only hurt their guarantee, but would impair the confidence of investors upon which the whole structure of real estate credit rests. It is this conservative attitude on the part of the title companies, which makes any considerable or long-continued inflation of real estate values almost impossible at the present time, just as it is their liberal lending upon good security, which more than any other single course, is helping thousands of people to obtain comfortable homes.

IT is interesting to note that the award of the Board of Estimate of the contract for the book-stacks in the new library to the highest bidder is not to remain without effective protest. The decision of Justice Dickey was final as to the question whether the Board of Estimate exceeded its discretion in granting the contract to the highest bidder, but the question remains whether an injustice has not been done to lower bidders by the award, for which there is a legal remedy. This question is to be tested by a suit, which the lowest bidder will cause to be brought against the city. The award was granted to the highest bidder on the ground that the bid of this company was the lowest bid of any concern which was competent to perform the work. It is no reflection on the highest bidder, the Snead Iron Works, to assert that the lowest bidder, viz., the Hecla Iron Works, is as competent to perform work of this class as any manufacturing metal company in the country. But if both concerns are equally competent why should the city be obliged to pay $200,000 more for the stacks than it would be obliged to pay to the lowest bidder? A well-known company, bidding in good faith, and well able to carry out its contract, such as the Hecla Iron Works, should be protected against the injustice of such an award, and the taxpayers should be protected against such extravagance. It is very much to be hoped that the suit which is to be brought will force the Board to reconsider this award and to re-open the whole question. Let the contract go by all means to the lowest bidder who is able to perform the work, and not either the highest bidder who is able to perform the work or to a lower bidder who is unable to perform it. The Board of Estimate has acted on false information in this matter and should be willing to revise its decision.

BRIDGE COMMISSIONER BEST has devised a new plan for enlarging, at an early date, the terminal facilities at the Manhattan end of the Brooklyn Bridge. He proposes at an expense of some $300,000 to add new platforms behind the one now in existence. They will occupy the space behind or beyond the present platform, which is now used for switching, and sufficient additional space to allow six car trains to load and unload on its sides. Against the principle of this plan there is no objection to be made. It will undoubtedly very much increase the carrying capacity of the present structure; and inasmuch as it will take a number of years to carry out the plans for permanent improvement of the Manhattan terminal, no matter what form that improvement takes, it is assuredly worth $300,000 to the people of New York to obtain the necessary relief at this vital and congested point a year or two earlier. The question is, however, whether a result as good cannot be achieved at a smaller expense and with no encroachment on City Hall Park, and this question cannot be answered with a confident negative. Mr. Niels Poulsen's plan of adding platforms at the side of the existing platform, and switching, as they do in all large railway terminals by a system of cross switches in front of the platforms—this plan would be less expensive and quite as effecient as the one Commissioner Best proposes to adopt. It would provide the temporary relief, which is necessary, pending the completion of permanent arrangements for diminishing the congestion at the Manhattan terminal, and it would do so in a less objectionable and costly manner than that proposed by the official plan. The only objection made at the recent hearing on the Poulson plan at the Comptroller's office was that the system of cross switching might be dangerous; but as a matter of fact a modification of this system of cross switching is a part of Commissioner Best's new scheme—the chief difference being that the switching is achieved behind instead of in front of the present platform. There is nothing which the Bridge Commissioner has yet proposed, whether it be in the way of revised plans for the Manhattan Bridge or in the way of either temporary or permanent relief for the Manhattan terminal of the Brooklyn Bridge, which is not open to serious question.

MR. WILLIAM BARCLAY PARSONS has emphasized his retirement from the position of Chief Engineer of the Rapid Transit Commission by giving out another and apparently a final scheme for a "comprehensive" rapid transit system. This new plan is the outcome of the discussions of the past few years and contains many excellent features. It is particularly excellent, because it can be operated and bid upon either by the Interborough Company, the New York City Railway Co. or an independent competitor. On the other hand, it seems to be lacking in the very essential matter of providing sufficient express service. But however that may be, it is useless to discuss the matter of a plan further at the present time. During the past few years plan after plan, originating either with Mr. Parsons or with the plan and scope committee of the commission, or with one or other of the competing companies has been proposed and discussed, until now what the property owners of New York want is a definite final route on which some action can be taken. Three years have been used up in discussions and in obtaining legislation. We do not say that those years have been wasted, but the time has now come for decisive results. As a consequence of the existing Subway the outward expansion of Manhattan and the Bronx has received a tremendous impulse; and in order that this impulse may be continued without interruption and with increasing force, it is necessary that property owners should know what to expect in the way of additional routes. These new tunnels can be constructed more quickly than the present tunnel, because they will be built in shorter sections, and public opinion will become and has a right to become very impatient—until the new routes are advertised and the contracts let.

The Finest Store in the World.

The distinction of being the finest store in the world has been won by the new showroom in the St. James Building, on Broadway, recently opened. It is a showroom in more respects than one. The richest materials known to decorative art have been used, and the place is more like a hall in a palace than anything else.

In having it made the owner, the Havana Tobacco Company, was seeking the custom, not of the passer-by on Broadway, but of well-to-do people who buy cigars in large quantities and (more or less) regardless of price. It did not wish to make any glaring display of its goods, but it did wish to create the impression that the man who bought his box of cigars in the finest store in the world, was in good company.

Money was lavishly spent to achieve this result. Whether it was wisely spent from the business point of view, we shall not pretend to say; but the corporation which owns the principal brands of Cuban cigars is generally supposed to possess brains, if not a soul, says an article by A. C. David in the January Architectural Record. The floors are green and white Cippolino marble, with colored borders; the walls are lined with polished marble, and marble columns carry the marble beams on which the ceiling rests. The furniture of the room consists chiefly of marble tables and benches, arranged along the line of the marble columns; and the glass cigar cases have marble bases.

The effect of so much white marble would, of course, be not only cool, but frigid, were it not for the ingenious measures which have been taken to impart life and warmth to the effect. Rugs of excellent color and design have been fitted into the rectangular spaces in the floor made by the borders of colored marble. A panel on the south wall is or was hung with a very beautiful piece of tapestry. Tubs, in which palms and other tropical plants are growing, have been distributed throughout the room.

And most important of all, a frieze of mural paintings representing Cuban landscapes has been placed between the pilasters on two sides of the room. These landscapes, which were painted by Mr. Willard Metcalf, are, of course, pictorial rather than, strictly speaking, decorative. Each one of them might be detached from its surroundings and placed upon an easel without losing very much of its effect.

STEEL "SKELETON" CONSTRUCTION

"Sixty Wall Street" Denies that Architect Buffington Invented It

AN answer has been made by "Sixty Wall Street," defendant, to the bill of complaint in the action brought by the Buffington Iron Building Company for damages on account of an alleged infringement of patent. (See Record and Guide, Oct. 29, 1904.) The defendant company denies, in general and in particular, the allegations made in the complaint.

It denies that it had knowledge and notice of the Buffington patent and of the rights of the complainant thereunder, or that it ever at any time made or used a building constructed according to or containing the invention described in the letters patent. The defendant further denies on information and belief that Mr. Buffington was the inventor of this method of construction.

It will be remembered that the complaint which has been served upon President Clarence Cary, of the Sixty Wall Street corporation, recites that Leroy S. Buffington, of Minneapolis, was the original, true, lawful, first and sole inventor of a certain new and useful invention (No. 383,170) for iron building construction, which had not been known or used by others in this country, and which had not been patented or described in any printed publication in this or any foreign country; that the defendant, Sixty Wall Street, has made and used a building constructed according to and containing the inventions described in letters patent No. 383,170, in claims Nos. 1 and 8 inclusive, 13 and 14.

Mr. Cary, in his answer, further says, on information and belief, that the pretended invention was not an invention when produced by the said Leroy S. Buffington; that it was not novel at that time, and that said letters patent are void because the alleged discovery of Mr. Buffington described in the claims in the said letters patent, and every substantial and material part thereof claimed therein as new, was, prior to the date of said Buffington's supposed invention or discovery as patented to him and by said letters patent, fully and clearly shown, described or claimed in the following letters patent, viz.:

Mr. Cary, further answering, says, that a construction of metal buildings, or substantial or material parts thereof, similar to those of said patent, were described in printed publications prior to the supposed invention thereof by the said Leroy S. Buffington—that is to say, in "The Sanitary Engineer," a periodical published in the City of New York, and on page 32 of No. 2, Vol. XIII, of date Dec. 10, 1885, in an article by one W. L. B. Jenny, entitled "The Construction of Heavy Fireproof Buildings on a Compressible Soil."

Also, in "Building," a periodical published in the City of New York, in an article by one S. E. Loring, entitled "Building Materials and Their Uses in Fireproof Construction," to be found on page 203 of No. 25, Vol. VII, Dec. 17, 1887, of said publication.

Also, an article in the "Encyclopedie d'Architecture," of 1874, in which a building constructed by one Saulner for a chocolate factory of Menier, at Noisel-sur-Marne, France, is described; and another description of the same in the "Deutsche Bauzeitung," of July 10, 1876; both of which publications are referred to in an article in the "Engineering News," of New York City, Vol. XXIX, No. 1, page 15, of Jan. 5, 1893, contributed by one J. Deforth.

Also, in various other articles written by various other persons, published in different publications throughout the United States at various times prior to the date of the application for said Letters Patent No. 383,170, which when ascertained the defendant prays leave to refer to and offer in evidence.

President Cary, further denying that Mr. Buffington was the original and first inventor, alleges that substantially the same principle of building construction had been previously used:

(a) In the construction of a building in the City of New York, State of New York, situate at the corner of Centre and Pearl sts, in the year 1856, by one John B. Snook;

(b) In the construction of a building in the City of New York, State of New York, situate at No. 88 Beekman st, in the year 1856, by the firm of Tatham Brothers;

(c) In the construction of a building known as the Broad Street Station of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, in the City of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, built by Wilson Brothers & Co., in 1881;

(d) In the construction of a building in the City of New York, at the corner of Whitehall and Beaver sts, known as the New York Produce Exchange, designed and built in 1881 by George B. Post, architect;

(e) In the construction of a building in the City of New Orleans, State of Louisiana, in the year 1883, by the Gun Shot Lead Company;

(f) In the construction of a building in the City of Chicago known as the Rookery Building, constructed in 1885 by Burnham & Root, architects;

(g) In the construction of a building in the City of Chicago, State of Illinois, in 1884, known as the Home Insurance Building, situate on the corner of LaSalle and Adams sts, in the said city;

In Mr. Cary's opinion the alleged combinations claimed in said Letters Patent are but aggregations of separate and well-known mechanical elements, and that said Letters Patent are therefore null and void.

William Parker Butler, of 59 Wall st, is defendant's counsel.

Mr. Altman's Investments.

A natural surmise, following recent developments and disclosures in and near Thirty-fourth street, is that the future of this street is fixed as a great retail thoroughfare, and, in connection with a section of Fifth avenue, as part of the most popular shopping district that metropolitan conditions will have produced.

As regards Thirty-fourth street, while the prophetic eyes see most particularly the block between Broadway and Fifth avenue, at the two extremities of which are great properties bearing the name of Mr. Altman as owner, it is conceded that the distinctively new character that the street is to take on will extend farther eastward and westward. Nothing new has developed this week concerning Mr. Altman's architectural plans. No architect has been finally selected, but several firms will submit plans in competition.

Geo. R. Read & Co., as agents, advertise to-day, in another column, the entire Fifth Avenue front, between Thirtieth and Thirty-first Streets, on the east side, for lease, and for a long term, either as a whole or in separate parts. This is the frontage which the Record and Guide announced last week, Mr. Altman had leased from Marshall Field.

Geo. R. Read & Co. are the firm which so successively managed for Mr. Altman the operations of securing control of the property between Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth streets, Fifth and Madison avenues, in whole or in part, as the case may be. Geo. R. Read & Co. were also instrumental for the same client in the old Tabernacle negotiations.

In explanation of Mr. Altman's willingness to sub-lease the 30-31st street property, Mr. Van Pelt of Geo. R. Read & Co., said yesterday that Mr. Altman's lease from Mr. Field represented "only an investment."

Old-Time Hippodromes.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

In a description of the New York Hippodrome, now building at 6th av, 43d and 44th sts, in the last number of the Record and Guide it is stated that, "The nearest approach to the character of entertainment which the New York Hippodrome will provide was given years ago in an elaborately fitted up structure where is now the Herald Square Theatre."

The writer of the article evidently forgot all about Franconi's Hippodrome which was a large and elaborate affair occupying the site of the Fifth Avenue Hotel about fifty years ago, and where daily performances were given and where the large space afforded an opportunity for exciting chariot races and other sports of the arena.

No mention is made of the Hippotheatron, which was on 14th st, between 3d and 4th avs, nearly opposite Irving pl, about thirty-five years ago. This was an iron building specially erected for the purpose of a circus and was used as such for a number of years with great success and where Messrs. Melville and Stickney, whom you mention as being connected with a circus on the site of the present Herald Square Theatre, were the principal stars of the attractions.

The structure mentioned as on the site of the present Herald Square Theatre was originally fitted up for an aquarium, and was only a passing success. I do not recollect that it was ever used for a circus.

Yours truly,

GEO. DE FOREST BARTON.

Something to Lean Upon.

Speaking of the new plan of the Finance Department of the City Government in separately assessing land and buildings, Mr. Bolton Hall remarked this week that whatever facilitates the borrowing of money, enhances the value of real estate, making it easier to buy and easier to sell.

"The new plan of assessing land separate from buildings may have an important effect in this regard, which I have not seen noticed.

"The assessments approximate so nearly to the value of the land that many conservative loans would not be for more than that amount.

"Accordingly, one who is ignorant of the value of real estate would feel safe in loaning upon it the assessed value of the land alone, taking the building as his margin; and as a check or further assurance to trustees and others the assessment valuation might often take the place of an appraisal."

The Street Department's "Chateau" and Stable.

The "Chateau" and stable building, to be built in Brooklyn by Hon. John McG. Woodbury, Commissioner of Street Cleaning, is the most important of recent operations of building in Brooklyn Borough. The structure has been designed for the sole use of this department, and the Commissioner says it will be the first of its kind to be erected in this country.

It will be situated on the plot bounded by Flushing av, Nostrand av, Little Nassau, and Graham sts, Brooklyn. It will be three stories in height and one-story below ground, and is estimated to cost about $385,000. It will contain baths and lockers for the use of the uniformed force, and a repair plant where it is planned that much of the work now let out by contract will be performed by the department's own mechanical force.

The exterior will be of a light brick with common native stone trimmings, and the style will be of the Italian Renaissance. The stable equipment will be of the best with the latest up-to-date sanitary conveniences.

Commissioner Woodbury also informs the Record and Guide that steps are about to be taken for the establishment of a similar structure in Manhattan, but no appropriation of funds for the purpose has yet been made, or a site selected. He said:

DESIGN FOR BUILDING IN BROOKLYN FOR STREET DEPARTMENT.

Warren & Wetmore, Architects.

"We are hoping for a fine building for Manhattan." Bids were opened on Nov. 22d, for the Brooklyn building, but no contracts were awarded. Warren & Wetmore, of 3 East 33d st, the architects, will revise the plans and bids will be readvertised for. (See Record and Guide of Dec. 3d, page 7.)

Shaw & Co. have leased for Morris B. Baer two 5-sty tenements with stores, 553-5 West 57th st, for a term of 21 years.

G. Tuoti & Co. have leased for Simon Epstein the two 5-sty double tenements at 254 and 256 Nassau st, Brooklyn, N. Y., 25x118 each, for a term of years at $4,000 per year.

The Real Estate Board of Brokers has just issued its diary and manual for 1905. The book, as in former years, shows very careful compilation and contains an increased amount of statistical information valuable to real estate men and property owners.

Martin F. Huberth, William J. Gabel and Henry G. Huberth, for many years with the real estate firm of Folsom Brothers, Broadway and 13th st, have formed a co-partnership and embarked in the real estate business and opened offices in the new Germania Savings Bank Building, entrance at 147 4th av.

Trucks and heavy business vehicles are to be excluded from Fifth av during the hours from 9 a. m. to 7 p. m. Police Commissioner McAdoo announced that the new order of things would go into effect just as soon as the details of a plan, already outlined, can be worked out, and the necessary number of extra mounted patrolmen obtained. The merchants on the avenue generally approve, as well as the residents.

QUESTION BOX

AS TO AUTHORIZATION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

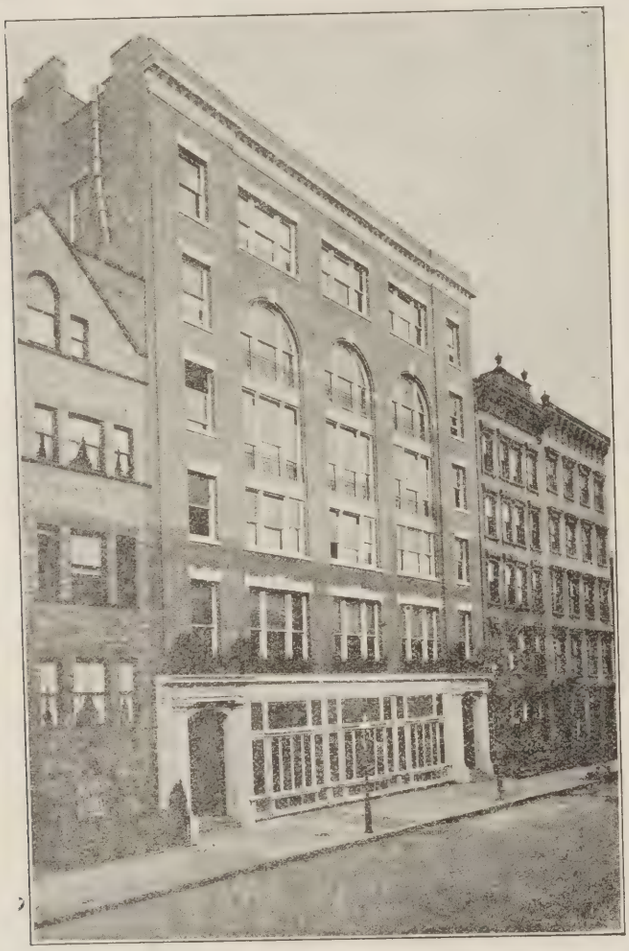
(1) Is it necessary to have an authorization signed by the owner or his attorney to offer for sale real property? (2) What was the decision of the Appellate Division in reference to Chapter 128 of the Laws of 1901, which holds that a broker must have a written authorization signed by the owner, or his attorney to offer real property for sale, otherwise be guilty of a misdemeanor? (3) Is the matter now before the Court of Appeals? (4) Parties connected with the Title Guarantee & Trust Co. inform me that they claim that it is unnecessary to have an authorization to offer real property for sale. What is your opinion? (5) If it is necessary to have a written authorization, and I succeed in selling property without a written authorization, and the parties refuse to pay me my commission, could a broker in Brooklyn bring suit and recover the commission if I assign my claim to him, since the Appellate Division of Brooklyn decided that the authorization law was unconstitutional?

Answer.—(1) It is not a necessity, at least courts of equal jurisdiction have differed in that respect, and the custom is being very generally abandoned. (2) The last word in this contest, so far is the case of Cody vs. Dempsey, 86 Appel. Div. 335, criticizing Whitely v. Terry, 82 Appel. Div. 197, and holding that Section 640 d. of the Penal Code, which provides for a written authorization in cities of the first and second classes, signed by the owner of the real estate or his authorized agent, is unconstitutional. (3) We do not know that an appeal has been taken, and so stand by this latest decision, which in all subsequent litigation in the Second Judicial District the Courts there would doubtless uphold.

WILL PERHAPS COME LATER ON.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Please inform me whether an appropriation for the widening of the bridge at 161st st and Park av was passed by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment some time during 1904?



Answer.—We are informed by the Assistant Secretary of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, Mr. J. H. Mooney, that no such appropriation has been made.

THE REALM OF BUILDING

The Doubleday, Page & Co.'s New Building.

A mercantile building having architectural and artistic merits is less of a rarity in New York City to-day than a few years ago; indeed, a very few years ago. The Doubleday, Page & Co.'s new publishing house in East 16th st is the latest commercial structure of architectural worth to be added to New York's all too brief list, the new Tiffany and Gorham buildings, on Fifth av, not yet being finished. But whether a comparison between the 16th st building and the Fifth av structures would be fair or profitable, and whether the former would be appropriate to the avenue, is another story. However, it may be said in passing that more buildings devoted to business, and successful from an architectural standpoint, are found in the cross streets than on Fifth av itself or on any other avenue in the city.

The Doubleday-Page building may be studied individually. It is comparatively remote from the confusion of commercial life, being in one of the city's old-time residential neighborhoods, in fact, in the center of a past intellectual life. Three old Knickerbocker dwellings were torn down early in the summer of 1903 to make way for the new building. One of the old dwellings was the last New York home of David Dudley Field, and the remainder of the block is still devoted to residential purposes. The new building is in no way "Dutch," but is entirely and distinctively "Colonial," of the English or so-called Georgian type. It is six stories in height, with a basement, and its facade is of Harvard brick, with white marble trim. The design, lacking pretension or elaborateness, is in its very simplicity and appropriateness most charming, and the color effect of this fortunate combination of materials is most pleasing. The very symmetry of its design is satisfying.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO.'S NEW BUILDING.
Nos. 133-137 East 16th Street.
Kirby, Petit & Green, Architects.

A comparison of the original design, which has a central roof feature, with the completed building, discloses what a great improvement this omission is. One might wish, however, for a wider cornice, with a resulting deeper shadow, to give more prominence to the roof line. The base appears too heavy. Further analysis of the design is, perhaps, unnecessary. The wrought iron balconies and green shrubs are effective touches.

The architects, Messrs. Kirby, Petit & Green, had more than a good design to produce; they were confronted with problems of construction and arrangement, the latter being of paramount importance in a great publishing plant. That they have planned solutions for the problems has been proved during several months' occupation of the building. The basement is occupied by the stock-room for books, several vaults, and the machinery for freight and passenger elevators, boilers for heating, etc. The press-room occupies the first floor. The presses are each 11x22 feet, and were especially built for the company by Messrs. Cottrell. The second floor is devoted to the book publishing, editorial, art, accounting and advertising departments. Here may be found fireproof vaults for keeping records, manuscripts, drawings, etc.

The third floor contains the subscription book department, the mail order and circulation departments, and a lunch room for the women employees. A valuable feature here is a fireproof vault, provided for the subscription list kept on card catalogues in a series of cases built on a movable platform, that may be easily wheeled into the vault. The binding, mailing and wrapping rooms are on the fourth floor, the electrotyping plant is on the fifth, and the composing room is on the top floor. Electricity is the only power used. A small package elevator runs between the floors, and a telephone system with some twenty stations connects all departments from a private switchboard and with the city service.

It is said that during construction all the troubles that are possible in erecting a building in New York were encountered. But the building is finished, and will remain for many years an object lesson to New Yorkers.

The site extends through to State st, having a depth of 99.6 feet, and a frontage of 115 feet. The old church stands in Debevoise pl, near De Kalb av, immediately opposite the Flatbush av extension of the new Manhattan Bridge, for which this land is necessary. The Rev. Richard S. Foley, of Brooklyn, is rector. So far as can be learned no definate plans or architect has been chosen.

City.—The following is a list of the bidders who have been invited to submit estimates in connection with the proposed 11-sty Hutchins building, size 50x125 feet, to be erected on the southeast corner of 5th av and 39th st, from plans by C. P. H. Gilbert, 1123 Broadway: C. T. Wills, 156 5th av; D. C. Weeks & Son, 289 4th av; Thompson-Starrett Co., 51 Wall st; Geo. A. Fuller Co., Fuller Building; Isaac A. Plans for a Madison Avenue Apartment House.

MADISON AV.—Plans are about complete in the office of Clinton & Russell, 32 Nassau st, for a large 6-sty elevator apartment house, 145x90 feet in size, which the Cades Realty Co., of 542 Fifth av, will erect at the southwest corner of Madison av and 96th st, at an estimated cost of $400,000. The company is composed of J. L. De Saulles, of New York, and William C. Dewey, of Springfield, Mass. The architects inform the Record and Guide that the owners will receive the estimates and award all contracts. There will be 25 family apartments, light brick, terra cotta and limestone front, metropolitan system floor-filling and fireproof partitions, galvanized iron and glass skylights, iron and marble stairways, terra cotta and galvanized iron cornices, steam heat, electric light, electric elevators, etc.

United States Express Company's New Building will be a Skyscraper Designed by Clinton & Russell.

TRINITY PL.—A 20-sty office building will be erected on a plot 133.9 feet on Greenwich st, 118.7 feet on Rector st, 142 feet on Trinity pl, and 139.10 feet on the north end for the United States Express Co., now located at 49 Broadway. The new building will be the largest and best equipped express building in the country, and will cost in the neighborhood of $1,500,000, covering an area of about 17,800 square feet. Mr. E. T. Platt, treasurer of the company, when interviewed by a Record and Guide representative this week, said:

"We have purchased the last portion of the necessary land needed for the new building and it is our intention to proceed with the new structure as rapidly as possible. We think it will be 20 stories, although this point is still undecided. There will be from four to six elevators, etc. Clinton & Russell, 32 Nassau st, are now preparing studies."

New Dwellings on Fifth Avenue.

5TH AV.—Otto H. Kahn, of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., has bought the southeast corner of Fifth av and 75th st, a plot 57.2x120, upon which he intends building a residence. Mr. Kahn will take title within 30 days, but has not decided when to begin building operations. No plans have as yet been drawn nor has Mr. Kahn selected his architect. Carrère & Hastings, of 28 East 41st st, were the architects for Mr. Kahn's country place at Normandie Park, near Morristown, N. J., but have not been consulted so far regarding the proposed city residence. The plot is one of the few vacant parcels remaining facing the park, and just north of 72d st. It will be recalled that for this 72d st plot, James Stillman has had plans drawn for a residence, and that further south, at 63d st, James B. Haggin will probably build on the old Progress Club site, and now comes the announcement that Commodore Frederick G. Bourne will build on the northeast corner of 52d st formerly part of the site of the Langham Hotel.

Custom House Seventy Per Cent. Finished.

The work on the new Custom House in lower Broadway is reported to be about seventy per cent completed, and it will be completed and occupied by the summer of 1906. The structure is termed the handsomest Custom House in the world. It is 200 feet on the north, 300 feet on Bridge st, 300 feet on Whitehall st and 300 feet on Broadway. It has seven stories above ground and two below with a height of 132 feet. It occupies 8,400,000 cubic feet. Work was first started in Jan., 1901, and if completed by June, 1906, about five and one-half years will have been used in its erection.

The estimated cost of the structure and furnishings is about $6,000,000.

CONVEYANCES

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a . G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants and warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d —B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no expressed covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street or avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482—10, denote that the property mentioned is in section 2, block 482, lot 10.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers that the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—A $20,000—$30,000 indicates the assessed value of the property, the first figures being for the lot only and the second figures representing both lot and building. Letter P before 2d figure indicates that the property is assessed as in course of construction.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage was drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

December 23, 24, 27, 28, 29.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given and the amount. The general dates used as headlines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

IRON AND STEEL

FINISHED STEEL ACTIVE.

With the railroads again in the market and many of the other leading consumers inquiring for large tonnages of finished steel, the recent advances of about $2 a ton, made by the various pools last week, do not appear to have checked the buying movement, but rather to have stimulated such purchasing, as the majority of consumers are willing to place orders now that they know the official figures for 1905.

The recent price advances can be summarized as follows: The official quotations on structural material, steel plates, bars, black sheets, tin plates, and galvanized and corrugated roofing have been advanced $2 a ton, while the quotation on bolts and nuts has been raised $4 a ton. Prices of basic and Bessemer billets will remain unaltered until the end of this month, but will then be advanced $2 a ton to $23, while prices of forging billets will be raised to $25 and those of cut bars from $23.50 to $25.50 per ton. It is also believed that wire nails and other wire products will soon be advanced about $2 a ton, making the official quotation on wire nails in Pittsburg about $2 a keg.

Many new orders for structural material are being placed daily, among them 12,000 tons for the New York Central and 6,000 tons for the Lackawanna. The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe has just contracted for 500 tons for bridge work and a construction company in Louisville, Ky., bought 1,500 tons for use in the erection of a building in that city. The Steel Corporation has orders for various finished material on its books for 1905 delivery, aggregating 5,100,000 tons, compared with 3,027,436 tons on Oct. 1, and will probably increase its business until at the end of this week it is believed that it will have contracts for 5,300,000 tons, compared with 3,215,123 tons at the end of 1903.

WIRE NAILS BRING HIGHER PRICES.

Following the recent advances in the prices of all classes of finished steel and the higher quotations on galvanized roofing sheets, many manufacturers of wire nails have succeeded in obtaining big premiums on their products, which are in good demand in all sections of the country. Though the leading manufacturers, including the American Steel & Wire Co., have not yet made any further advances in their official quotations, it is known that many independent concerns are already asking $2 per keg f o b Pittsburg, to which figure the official quotation is likely to be raised within a few weeks, though it is now unaltered at $1.75 in carload lots to jobbers and $1.80 to retailers. Eastern buyers are experiencing considerable difficulty in receiving shipments from the mills, owing to the congested condition of transportation facilities on account of the snow and the scarcity of freight cars and locomotives on all the principal lines. The local quotations remain unchanged as follows: Single carloads, $1.94½; small lots from store, $2.

—Dealing in the Bronx is expected to derive some fresh impetus from the Appellate Division's decision, which apparently opens the way for a large extension of street railway facilities. The proposed new lines will furnish transportation to the entire westerly portion of the Bronx. The buying of properties in anticipation of the extension has already been extensive.

—The Morton House on Union Square is being overhauled and decorated by the new lessees, the Churchill Bros. A new electric elevator will be put in, also steam heat and hot and cold water in every room. Office, dining-room and kitchen will be on the first floor. The new proprietors will furnish the hotel new throughout. It will be called the Hotel Churchill. It will be open for business in March.

Sampson B. Oulton, who built in his lifetime a large number of houses in Brooklyn, several hundred in the aggregate, died and was buried last Friday, in that city, aged 75.
